Hazardous Waste Dispute Still Hangs Over Ballard View Plan

By Lewis C. Howe

The Zoning Board of Appeals has closed public hearings on the proposed 139-unit Ballard View mixed-income housing project amid controversy surrounding possible hazardous waste at the Ballardvale site.

The ZBA will consider a report from Normandeau Engineering that recommends more soil tests be conducted on the land, which brothers Steven and James Feinberg hope to develop as condominiums.

Robert Wymar, an engineer for Normandeau, toured the proposed site with Ballard View Realty Trust attorney Neal Glick last month. At Tuesday night's public hearing, Glick grilled Wymar on the specifics of his report.

Glick asked Wymar if he had "found any evidence of direct peril to anyone" because of hazardous materials on the property. Wymar responded "Our work was limited to the data presented (to the ZBA) and a walkover of the site. While we found no specific waste materials that would pose such a threat, further testing is required to verify that."

The engineer said he had found "a couple of very deteriorated" storage drums on the land, as well as a dozen or so paint buckets. "But the issue is," he continued, "what may exist in addition to that which is on the surface."

Wymar noted he had observed "some scrub brush" vegetation on the property, which suggested possible "soil conditions below the surface that would impede (vegetation) growth."

Glick countered that "it could be just from clearing the land."

"It could," Wymar acknowledged.

The engineer stated "we have not observed any imminent and substantial health threat as yet" on the site, but reiterated the need for further soil testing.

The Andover Board of Health also presented a report calling for the ZBA's rejection of the Feinbergs' application on grounds of potentially hazardous soil conditions. The developers, who said they had not seen the report previously, will submit a rebuttal to the Zoning Board next week.

"We object to the entire thrust" of the board of health's report, Glick commented. "We don't agree with any of it." The attorney said a response would be forthcoming "provided it doesn't extend the public hearing." Glick said the Feinbergs' goal was "to conclude these hearings as soon as possible."

"So is mine," answered ZBA Chairman Wesley Whitney.

The developers had their own impact study conducted by IEP engineering, which deemed the site safe for development. When Glick asked Wymar if he

Hixon Finalist For Principal Selection Due Nov. 19

By Lewis C. Howe

Andover High School Assistant Principal Wilbur Hixon is one of three finalists for the position of principal at Andover High. Hixon began his tenure in the town school system 29 years ago as a social studies teacher.

Hixon served as social studies department head at the high school until he was appointed assistant principal in 1974. He also led the Andover High Golden Warriors to many successful seasons as head basketball coach.

Daniel Fleming of Chelmsford and Glen Frank of Winchendon are the two other finalists for the principal's post.

Fleming has been principal of Rockport High School since 1982. Prior to that, he served as Dean of Chelmsford High School for three years and spent two years as a house administrator at Cambridge Rindge and Latin High School.

Frank has been principal at Murdock High School in Winchendon since 1985. He was employed in direct educational services for Mediplex Corporation from 1983 to 1985, and held the principal's position at Langdon, N.H., high school from 1978-83.

Mary Lyman, director of personnel for the town, said the volunteer screening committee selected to review candidates interviewed seven semi-finalists last

Roof Work At Doherty Underway

Fred Jaeschke, Director of Municipal Maintenance, reported to the school committee this week that work is in progress on a new roof for Doherty Junior High School. Other major maintenance projects recently completed or in-progress include the transformation of Room 110 at the high school for a computer lab and extensive interior renovations at the Shawsheen Early Childhood Center.

Teachers Awarded Scholarships

Ten Andover teachers have been awarded Horace Mann scholarships as Paideia Seminar leaders for the 1987-88 school year. The educators are Nancy Finneran and Jean Pendergrass of Andover High School, Douglas Halstead from Doherty Junior High, Brenda Doherty of West Junior High, and elementary teachers Irene Crane (Bancroft) Patricia Crowley (Shawsheen Early Childhood Center) Eileen Seavey (Samborn) Sheila Eckoff and Chris Stanvick (South) and Helen Caplan (West). A total of 39 Horace Mann awards were given to teachers in the Andover schools.

Selectmen In Work Session Monday

The Board of Selectmen will hold a work session this Monday night, Nov. 9, in the selectmen's chambers on the third floor of the municipal complex.

Boosters To Honor Players

The Andover Warriors Boosters will honor the junior high football players and coaches this Friday, Nov. 6, at Lovely Field. The Warriors will take on Lawrence at 7 p.m.

All Doherty and West football players who wear their team shirts will be admitted free and be recognized at half time.

Book Fair, PTO Meets At Center

The Shawsheen Early Childhood Development Center has announced the schedule for the annual Book Fair and November PTO meeting: Nov. 18 - 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m., Book Fair and dessert in gym; 7:30 to 8 p.m., PTO meeting; Nov. 19 and 20 - 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Book Fair.

Parents are reminded that books are selected titles of the finest children's books, both contemporary and the classics, for the five and six-year-old level. Books must be purchased by an adult. Children cannot bring money to school to buy books. Call the Shawsheen School for more information.

Students At Fire Conference

A group of Andover students accompanied Deputy Fire Chief Charles Murnane to the third annual Fire Safety Education Conference in Needham, Oct. 20.

A total of 34 communities participated in the direct outreach program to bring fire safety to young adults. All high schools and fire departments within the Route 495 belt were invited. Each high school was asked to select up to four students to be chaperoned by participating local fire department personnel.

Attending from Andover were Matt Rubenstein and Brian Worcester from Andover High School and Jennifer Butt from Doherty Junior High School.

The Beyond War satellite program, "Making a Decision about War," will be aired on local MECCA cable Tuesday, Nov. 10, at 6:30 p.m. and Thursday, Nov. 12, at 6:30 p.m.

The program features Nobel Peace prize-winner Oscar Arias, president of Costa Rica, and Daniel Ortega, president of Nicaragua, discussing the current Central American Peace Plan. The program also includes Soviet and American scientists who have completed an unprecedented two-year collaboration on the book "Breakthrough: Emerging New Thinking." The book offers a joint superpower philosophy on the keys to global security. Authors include Anatoly Gromyko, member of the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences, and Martin Hellman, Stanford University statistician.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

Baby's bedding needs are few, but like an adult - a firm mattress is extremely important. A baby's bones are still somewhat soft in the early months and good support is needed. Most new mattresses are designed with steel inner-spring coils under a thick layer of foam rubber and a waterproof plastic covering. Small vents on the sides of the mattress allow air to circulate and prevent moisture from collecting. The reversible mattress should be about four inches thick. Older mattresses may be filled with cotton batting or horsehair. If you've inherited one of these, buy a moisture-proof sheet or mattress cover that completely covers the mattress.

There is a complete assortment of baby needs available at TINY TOTLAND. We feature famous makers including Simmons, Childcraft and Bassett. Over 80 cribs are on display. Ask about our lay-a-way plan, no extra charge. We feature wall decorations and many accessories. Babies toys...everything from "heaven to seven". Open 9-5:30. Mon. & Th. 9-9. Delivery service anywhere from TINY TOTLAND, 1111 Elm St., Manchester, N.H. 1-603-623-6171. "Where Quality Costs You Less."

Women In The Courts Is Topic For LWV Discussion

The women's issues committee of the League of Women Voter of Andover will present "Empowering Women in the Courts," a public panel discussion, on Thursday, Nov. 12, in Christ Church Parish Hall on Central Street at 7:30 p.m.

Women and men attorneys, a victim advocate, a court officer and a member of the Governor's Commission on Gender Bias in the Courts will address whether/how gender bias exists in the courts, affecting women as lawyers, court officials, clients and victims.

Panelists will be Attorney Constance Novick Bendetson, a specialist in family law and litigation in the law firm of Edward Novick of Lowell in Middlesex County, speaking on the impact in the court of being a female attorney; Attorney Richard Heller, senior partner of Heller, Borrelliz and Katz of Boston, who has represented women in sex-discrimination case in courts, including the U.S. Federal District Court; Patty McNamara, chief of the Victim Witness Service Bureau for Middlesex County under District Attorney Scott Harshbarger, discussing the impact of court proceedings on victims; Mary De Francisco, assistant registrar of courts for Essex County, who will reflect on her observations of the court system; and Susan Shaer of Andover, a member of the Governor's Commission on Gender Bias in the Courts, which has four subcommittees investigating the issue, who will moderate the panel.

A women's issues committee meeting will be held Monday, Nov. 9, at 9:30 a.m. at the home of Susan Broude, committee chairperson, 26 Orchard Crossing. Anyone interested is invited. For further information, call Mrs. Broude.

The League of Women Voters is a nonpartisan organization dedicated to representative government and individual liberties established in the Constitution. Its purpose is to promote political responsibility through informed and active participation of citizens in government.

Special Programs

Calendar Coffee Hour Theme

By Virginia Lopez Begg

The Andover Historical Society is pleased to present another series of morning coffees. The program on Tuesday, Nov. 10, at 9:30 a.m., entitled "Dates to Remember," will feature important events in Andover's history and highlight the society's 1988 historic photograph calendar. Homemade refreshments served in the Blanchard Museum period kitchen provide a welcoming ambiance.

Dates marking important or unusual events in the town's history are one of the calendar's most interesting features. Each month includes a list of these dates and some of the intriguing lore that is part of Andover's past. January, for instance, informs the reader that on the 31st in 1863 "I Was Seeing Nellie Home" was written in Ballardvale while August 2, 1692, witnessed the witchcraft trial of Martha Carrier.

People For Peace To Aid Nicaraguans

The North Andover People for Peace is mounting a Thanksgiving campaign through the churches of Merrimack Valley to collect material aid for the people of Nicaragua. In conjunction with this effort, NAPP is sponsoring a Witness for Peace slide lecture tour of Nicaragua and Honduras by Sr. William Julie, SND of St. Mary's Convent, Lawrence, on Sunday, Nov. 22, from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church located next to the Eagle-Tribune on 57 Peters St., North Andover. Also participating in the discussion will be Rebecca King and Jonathon Keller, both of North Andover, who visited Nicaragua this summer through the auspices of different programs. This lecture and discussion is open to the public who is invited to bring boxes of school and medical supplies to the Methodist church for collection. Supplies needed are pencils, pens, notebooks, paper, crayons, scissors, glue, scotch tape, aspirin, bandages, adhesives, anti-diarrhea drugs, antibiotics, vitamins.

Tom Meagher, resident of NAPP, states that this local drive is "a concrete way to express our desire for peace to the Nicaraguan people." In cooperation with the ecumenical distribution center for aid, Quest For Peace and the Quixote Center in Mount Ranier, MD, NAPP's goal is to empower locals to contribute educational and medical supplies in this people-helping-people context. Local school and church groups or individuals who wish more detailed information may contact King.

No. Andover Church To Hold Fair

PROFESSIONAL QUALIFICATIONS

Did you know that becoming certified as a chiropractor requires 4½ years of training, after college.

Today's Doctor of Chiropractic must complete over 4,500 hours of classroom instruction and pass several rigid chiropractic board examinations before earning a license. Also, continuing educational seminars must be completed for annual license renewal.

PERSONAL BACKGROUND

I have completed courses in Kinesiology, Exercise Physiology and Physical Therapy, and hold a degree in Biology from Niagara University. While in Chiropractic College, I received awards for Outstanding Service as well as High Honor roll. I have also visited a number of other chiropractic clinics to study their methods and procedures in Kansas City, Mo.; New York; Atlanta and Wichita, Kans.

Additionally, I attend seminars held monthly in Atlanta and Chicago, to stay current on the latest chiropractic advances.

This is the kind of training and professionalism I offer you. If you have hesitated visiting a chiropractor, perhaps you didn't know that chiropractors go to such great lengths to continue their education and provide you with the latest techniques and the most qualified service. So, you see, what you don't know can't help you.

Call me today and let me help you.

O'Brien In Cum Laude Society

Seven Governor Dummer Academy seniors have been elected to the school's chapter of the national Cum Laude Society.

The students are in the upper 10 percent of their class and each had at least a B+ cumulative grade average at the end of the junior year.

Cum Laude was founded at the Tome School in Port Deposit, MD, in 1906 to encourage and reward high academic attainment in secondary schools. Governor Dummer Academy's chapter was founded in 1936.

New members include: Anne Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Cole of Haverhill; Kristen Fowler, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph R. Fowler of Newton, N.H.; Michelle LaFlamme, daughter of Mrs. Doreen A. LaFlamme of Rye, N.H., and Noman C. LaFlamme of Sandy Hook, CT; Julie Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Miller, Hampton Falls, N.H.; Andrew Noel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew B. Noel II, Hopkinton; Todd O'Brien, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. O'Brien, Andover; Hyun Ri Shin son of Mr. and Mrs. Woong Shik Shin of Seoul, Korea.

O'Brien, a High Honors student, is a dormitory proctor and head tour guide. He is a four-year member of the ski club, a two-year member of the varsity golf team, a French Building proctor and member of the Big Brother organization and the social committee.

Christmas Fair

Central Catholic High School will hold its annual Christmas Fair in the high school auditorium, 300 Hampshire St., Lawrence, Sunday, Nov. 8, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

There will be handmade Christmas decorations and gifts, a knitting boutique, kitchen and bakery and more than 50 raffle items.

Be sure to join the fairgoers, whether it's for the "attic treasures" corner, a picture with Santa or the chance to do some early Christmas shopping.

The pads on a fly's feet secrete a sticky substance that enable it to cling to almost any surface, even run upside down along a ceiling.

Computer Goals Outlined

Editor's Note: Kenneth Kwajewski, the computer education director for the Andover Public Schools, will contribute a series of articles explaining the computer goals that have been established for this year. One and a half million dollars has been appropriated by the town of Andover to introduce technology into the schools. These articles will describe the progress that has been accomplished to date.

The town of Andover has approved an appropriation of 1.5 million dollars that will be used to coordinate the use of educational technologies in the public schools. A computer education committee worked diligently over the past few years to construct a long-range computer education plan. This plan will assist school administrators and teachers to introduce computer technology into most curricular areas. Six goals of the elementary level and eight at the secondary level have been tested for the initial year of the plan. This article will outline these 14 goals while subsequent articles will give detailed information concerning the educational value of each program.

The following goals have been targeted at the elementary level:

1. Computer Awareness/Keyboarding. This goal will enable students to learn the basic components of a computer system and begin to learn correct keyboarding techniques that will be used throughout their educational program. Students at the Early Childhood Center will use Muppet boards and software to become familiar with a computer while first graders will use keyboarding software.

2. Logo Programming. This goal will begin this year at the third-grade level and be expanded to each grade on a yearly basis. Children will learn problem-solving techniques through logo exercises and activities. Educational guides will be developed each year to assist students to think clearly and logically.

3. Science Education. This year the science curriculum has been targeted for revision. Science software will be evaluated and purchased in order to improve science education in grades K-12. Two science related projects will also be developed at West and Sanborn elementary schools. A Kids Net telecommunication project will be coordinated with National Geographic and the National Science Foundation. Students will collect and transmit data via a modem to a national data collection site. There will also be a project concerning video disk technology which will allow science teachers to incorporate and evaluate the effectiveness of this educational tool.

4. Four-Mat Project. This is a special project at West Elementary School that will allow teachers to develop lesson plans on the computer that may be shared with other teachers in the state. Teachers will develop plans that will use techniques for students of many different learning styles.

5. Special Education. This goal will allow special education teachers to purchase educational hardware and software for individual students with special learning needs for grades K-12.

6. Mastery Management. This goal will expand the use of mastery management evaluation procedures in language arts and mathematics, grades 4-6, as a pilot project at Sanborn Elementary School.

The following goals have been targeted at the secondary level:

1. Applications Course - Eighth Grade. Students will learn how to use a word processor, spreadsheet and data base program by working with the software program Appleworks. Educational activities have been developed to show students how to integrate this software into other subject areas.

2. Applications Course - Tenth Grade. This course will be taught for the next two years to provide ninth and tenth grade students an opportunity to learn the coursework listed above.

3. Word Processing. A word processing course has been developed for high school students. This course will be taught in the business lab which is using IBM and IMB compatible equipment. Students will be taught how to use a commercial word processing program to enhance their personal and business background. An additional course is being offered through the English and business departments to help students write more effectively by using the word processing hardware and software.

4. Science. This goal has been described in the elementary section. A special project course is being developed at the high school this year. The course involves the team teaching of computers, algebra II and chemistry. The is being funded by a GTE grant and the Andover school system.

5. Programming. The mathematics department at the high school has revised the programming curriculum so courses in Basic, advanced Basic and Pascal will be offered. Students will use IBM equipment in the new mathematics computer lab. This course will help students develop better thinking skills by solving problems on the computer.

6. Telecommunications. Students and teachers using a computer in the media center at the high school will soon be able to tap into national data bases to secure relevant and updated information. This program will be expanded over the years so that all subject areas will be able to use the power of telecommunications to enhance their programs.

7. Special Education. This goal is described in the elementary section.

Computer

The successful implementation of these goals will provide a solid foundation for the computer education plan. Many administrators and teachers are working hard to ensure the success of the project. Contact them at your local school to obtain further information or contact Kwajewski at the central office.

8. Computer Information Department Heads. Three department head positions have been established at the secondary level to assist in the successful implementation of this plan. Teachers appointed to these positions are Edgar Johnson, Andover High School; Kathy Aeder, Doherty Junior High School; Thomas Kenney, West Junior High School.

Council Underway

The student council at Doherty Junior High School is an organization that tries to create an enthusiastic attitude among students. It is comprised of four elected officials, 29 elected homeroom representatives and up to 75 committeemen (25 from each grade).

The council has many responsibilities throughout the year and plans events that will benefit the school and the community. Council members relay what happens at their meetings to the student body in order to obtain the support needed to carry out projects and plans.

The main goal of the council this year is not to have 30 dances or make hundreds of dollars, but to get every student in the school to participate in school and community events.

High School

Andover High School is planning two events for upperclassmen. On Saturday, Nov. 7 seniors will go on their "Senior Cruise" in Boston Harbor. A bus will leave the high school at 6:15 p.m. and arrive in Boston at 7:30. The cruise lasts four hours. On Monday, Nov. 9 at 7 p.m., college-bound juniors and seniors are invited to the Collins Center for a financial aid information session.

I DELVR

No, it's not a typo, it's inscribed on Dr. Wesley Blank's license plate. And he's not kidding — he's delivered hundreds of healthy, happy babies.

Why? Dr. Blank loves being an obstetrician and it shows. He babies his moms, his dads, and even grandparents. He cares. And his patients love it.

Dr. Blank can be your doctor, too. He's one of a team of fine obstetricians and gynecologists you'll find at Chelmsford Medical Associates.

Our schedule works with your schedule: morning, afternoon and evening hours available in both obstetrics and gynecology.

Doherty Celebrates Halloween

By Diane Dresser

The student council of Doherty Junior High School celebrate Halloween by hosting two dances last Friday, Oct. 30.

The seventh graders felt that their after-school dance was a hit. It started out with everyone a little embarrassed and self-conscious until a bold few got the entire crowd dancing, and soon everyone was enjoying him/herself. The students' compliments go to disc jockey "Tou Shea," who played some outstanding music.

Lee Ryans won the best female dance contest. There were two best male dance contest winners: Sean O'Leary and Andy Brown.

The eighth and ninth grade dance, held during the evening, was also great. Comments like, "This dance was a lot better than last year's," could be heard among the group.

The winners for the best dance contest were Amy Heseltine and Sean Darwin. Costume winners were Christine Magee, Kate Mann, Abby Dalton, John Constantine, Alex Sumberg, Brad McHale, Justin Townsend and Michael Weiner.

The smallest pumpkin contest was also held this week. Miss Hanson's homeroom, 180, was the winner.

In other Doherty news, the ninth grade magazine drive will run until Nov. 9.

Dresser is a seventh-grader.

Doherty Math Team Takes First Place

By Kevin Foltz

An enthusiastic Doherty Junior High School math team competed in its first of five meets Thursday, Oct. 29, at West Junior High School and captured a first-place win with a margin of two points. Doherty was in last place after the first category, but rallied under the leadership of team captain Allen Soong. Sixteen seventh and eighth graders participated. Outstanding performances were given by Soong, Kevin Foltz, Greg DeBeer, Mike Tung and Eric Behling. The team's coaches are Laraine Brylczyk, Kathryn Aeder and Thomas Malone.

The team has been hard at work preparing for this year's round of competitions in the Intermediate Math League of Massachusetts. The categories covered include algebra, geometry, number theory, arithmetic operations and a special "mystery category." Team members earn points by solving challenging problems in a very short time period. Ten people compete as regulars and the remaining students compete as alternates. Math scholars have been preparing for the five competitions by working individually and in team practices.

This year's members include Glen Aeder, Sefany Andreadis, Linneau Basu, Eric Behling, Julie Choe, Greg deBeer, Johnny Faldetta, Kevin Foltz, Liz Han, Katie Hansberry, Reji Hayes, Matt Lastrina, Brian Lee, Heather McNemar, Jennifer Neal, Andy Novelline, Kara O'Handley, Allen Soong and Mike Tung.

The next competition will be held December 10 in Chelmsford.

Outing Club Busy With Activities

The second year of activities for the Doherty Junior High School Outing Club is off to a fine start. On the first outing a group of students participated in a trip to the Topsfield Fair and enjoyed rides, exhibits and stage shows.

The next outing was canoeing down the Ipswich River. More than 30 students and parents joined this expedition which included four hours of canoeing and picnicking on an island.

Plans are underway for two ski weekends during January and February at Sunday River in Bethel, Maine. Members are also looking forward to ice fishing, cross-country skiing, bowling, roller skating and many more activities. These events are chaperoned by teachers and parents.

F.R.E.D. Is Coming! Robot Talks To Students About Pressure

Something very special is coming to the schools in Andover. F.R.E.D. the Robot will visit Bancroft, Sanborn, South and West Elementary schools on Monday, Nov. 9, and Friday, Nov. 13. F.R.E.D.'s mission is to talk to students about the problems of peer pressure as they relate to substance abuse. For today's students, F.R.E.D. the Robot is one of the most popular and effective speakers anywhere. He is fascinating, informative and has the ability to convey his important messages to the students on their own level.

F.R.E.D.'s "Say No To Drugs" program is being presented by the Department of Health Education and will be video taped live and presented at a later date on cable T.V. Parents are encouraged to view this program with their children and use the opportunity to discuss it with them.

Further information about F.R.E.D. or his "Say No To Drugs" program may be obtained from Brenda O'Brien, health coordinator, or Robotic Educational Devices in Chestnut Hill.

Exhibit

A mixed media show will be exhibited at The Pingree School Gallery through December 4 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. There is no admissions fee.

The Pingree School is an independent, coeducational, day school for 233 students in grades 9-12, located in South Hamilton.

Curriculum Night At Bancroft

The Bancroft School P.T.O. will host the first of four curriculum nights to be held during the school year on Thursday, Nov. 5, at 7 p.m. Each presentation will center on a specific topic.

Thursday's discussion will include an update on the Andover-Lawrence Collaborative School project and the impact of the school budget on Bancroft School.

Main emphasis will center on the language arts program and highlight process writing, the new spelling program and the Paideia program.

The meeting will be held in Loft 3.

AHS Marching Band Named Division Champs

The Andover High School Marching Band capped its undefeated competition season by winning first place in Division 1 at Sunday's New England Scholastic Band Association (NESBA) Championship Finals. The victory was Andover's first in the prestigious annual New England-wide contest and was won in conjunction with individual first-place rankings in the categories of music and percussion.

"This was our best performance of the year," said band director Marc Keroack. "Everybody did the best job they could." He added that, after three years of cold and rainy NESBA contest days, Sunday's sunny skies seemed to bring an extra added measure of luck. "It was a good omen from the start," he said.

The contest in Division 1—for bands with fewer than 35 playing members—comprised six bands. Competition was close: Andover earned a gold medal with 86 total points, edging out the second-place band, East Bridgewater, by .8 point. The Scituate High School Marching Band placed third, earning a silver medal.

Competing bands were judged individually on the quality of their music, color guard, percussion and drum majors. Andover's high music ranking was the band's fourth consecutive first place in the category in the four years it has competed under Keroack's direction.

"This championship is the culmination of four years of building toward a goal," said Keroack. "We're finally putting all the pieces of the package together. We've always done well musically; now, we've finally got the visual aspects up to the level of the musical part of the program."

Keroack, who is this year's NESBA president, noted that the win also ended the "curse of the president." He explained that, in

Haverhill Messiah Rehearsals

Rehearsals for the November 29 Haverhill Messiah Sing will be held Monday, Nov. 9, at 7 p.m., Tuesday, Nov. 17, at 7 p.m. and Saturday, Nov. 28, at 10 a.m. All rehearsals are at the First Baptist Church, 217 Main St., Haverhill.

The Haverhill Messiah Sing, a tradition in Haverhill since 1983, is a coming together of many choral societies, church choirs and high school choruses from the Merrimack Valley. This year's concert features the Indian Hill Chamber Orchestra.

All singers are invited to the rehearsals and the concert, which is free and open to all.

The Haverhill Messiah Sing is a project of The Greater Lawrence Educational Collaborative.

The largest painting now in existence is probably The Battle of Gettysburg, completed in 1883 after two and a half years of work by Paul Philip Teaux and 16 assistants. The painting is 410 feet long, 70 feet high and weighs 11,792 pounds.

Publishes Second Book

Dr. John A. Dalphin, professor and chairman of the department of sociology at Merrimack College, is the author of "The Persistence of Social Inequality in America," published by Schenkman Books of Cambridge. As the title of the book suggests, writes Dalphin, "social inequality has persisted throughout America's history. A small, national upper class has owned and ruled America from generation to generation."

The book demonstrates how the upper class owns and rules America and then explores the obstacles in the path of real change in the class system, the American culture, which rationalizes the status quo, the divisions within the non-upper class to unite against the upper class and the key institutions which perpetrate class inequality.

Originally published in 1982, the second edition of the 170-page book includes a new chapter on "The Reagan Years," exploring what has happened to inequality in America during the presidency of Ronald Reagan.

Dalphin's book has been used as a text in college courses in sociology, social change and social problems.

A native of Long Island, Dalphin is a 1964 graduate of the College of the Holy Cross and holds a doctorate in sociology from the University of Massachusetts. A member of the Merrimack faculty since 1969, he specializes in social stratification, research methodology and population problems. Dalphin is the co-author of "The Research Craft," a text book published in 1982 by Little, Brown.

Standex Earnings Increase

Standex International Corporation (NYSE) reported a 6.7 percent increase in earnings per share on a 5.6 percent increase in sales in the first fiscal quarter ended September 30, 1987, as compared with the prior year.

Sales for the period were the highest for any first quarter in the company's history, surpassing $100 million for the third time in the past four quarters. The company stated that the outlook for fiscal year 1988 appears "quite favorable."

Thomas L. King, president and C.E.O., stated, "We are very pleased with the first quarter's results. This is the sixth consecutive quarter in which the company has reported favorable earnings comparisons. Business continues to be brisk at most of our operations."

In the first fiscal quarter, net income amounted to $3.9 million or 32 cents a share, as compared to the prior year's net income of $3.7 million or 30 cents a share. Sales for the latest quarter were $102.8 million, up from $97.3 million a year ago. Earnings per share in the latest quarter were based on 12.4 million average shares outstanding.

King added, "The favorable trends reported for fiscal 1987 appear to be continuing into fiscal 1988. We are particularly pleased with the strong earnings gains reported by Roehlen's European and North American operations, as well as our institutional and commercial products divisions. Unless there is a serious disruption in the manufacturing segment of the U.S. economy, we believe that fiscal '88 will be an excellent year for Standex."

Standex International is a diversified manufacturer operating in five basic growth areas: institutional products, consumer products, graphics, industrial products and electronics.

Conference Aims To Bring Older, Younger Together

Members of the planning committee for "The Generation Connection," a conference that will showcase successfully implemented programs that bring older and younger people together, include Barbara Brandt-Saret of Andover, assistant director of the programs, Elder Services of the Merrimack Valley, conference sponsor; Donna Petorutto, director, Adult and Children's Day Care Center, Methuen and North Andover; Mary Ellen Osgood, social studies department, North Andover Schools.

"Younger people have ambition, energy and enthusiasm. Older people have experience, knowledge and expertise. If you put those things together, you have dynamite—anything can happen," states Lydia Brogger, Gray Panther leader.

Because a group of local educators and community leaders believe that by encouraging opportunities for new learning and new experiences between older and younger people, an intergenerational conference, "The Generation Connection," has been planned for November 17 at 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Merrimack College, North Andover, to coincide with National Community Education Day. The workshops will feature ten successfully designed and implemented intergenerational programs for students of all ages and older adults, utilizing all kinds of community resources. The workshop themes, Oral History: Surrogate Parenting, Older Adults as Mentors and the arts, will offer a broad range of programming for all ages.

"The Generation Connection" is sponsored by Elder Services of the Merrimack Valley, Inc., in collaboration with the Massachusetts Intergenerational Network (MIN). For information and registration, contact Carolyn D. Hubers at Elder Services of the Merrimack Valley, Inc.

LWV Agriculture Group Will Explore Farming In Andover

Will farms, should farms exist in Andover in the year 2000?

Anyone interested in the state of farming in Andover, in Massachusetts, in the United States, should come to a meeting of the agriculture committee of the League of Women Voters of Andover Tuesday, Nov. 10, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Betsey Cullen, 74 Bartlet St. There will be harvest desserts, slides of farming in Andover today and fascinating tidbits about the local agricultural scene.

Cullen, who chairs the committee, particularly invites residents who have been involved or interested in farming in Andover over the years and can add perspective to the discussion. The slides of Andover farms were taken by Joyce and Willard Robinson. Participants will discuss the pressures of development and agribusiness on Andover farmers and farmland.

Agriculture is a national study topic of the League of Women Voters and each local league is studying agriculture locally in preparation for the national LWV study of agricultural policy in the spring, when consensus on farm policy issues will be sought. Background information on national agricultural policy will be available to help members explore the world of the farm crisis, commodities and price support.

Coping With Illness At Holiday Time Is Topic

A "Coping With Illness During the Holidays" workshop will be held Thursday, Nov. 19, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the YMCA, 165 Haverhill St., Andover.

Offered as a community service by VNA HomeCare Hospice and the Elinor M. Ristuccia Foundation, the program is open to patients, family members, caregivers and others dealing with a serious illness. Holidays mean good times, but not for those with the pressures and requirements of caring for someone with cancer or other serious or terminal illnesses. The program will address a variety of these issues and offer relief for families and others over the holidays.

Presentors are Carole Trickett, L.I.C.S.W., a social worker for VNA HomeCare Hospice, Andover/Haverhill, a Medicare certified, JCAH accredited Hospice serving the needs of the terminally throughout the valley, and Christine Shakalis, L.I.C.S.W., executive director of the Ristuccia Foundation, an organization providing counseling services for cancer patients in the Merrimack Valley.

To reserve a space or for further information, contact the Ristuccia Foundation.

Choose a simple IRA now, and save the hard decisions for later.

Investing for retirement should be easy, profitable, and flexible. And that's why you should look into the new 3-year IRA from Wakefield Savings Bank.

Once you've gotten started, you can add to it whenever you like. You can even consolidate other IRA's into it. (We'll be happy to transfer IRA's from other institutions into it for you.) And the interest it pays will always be 1/4% over the 3-year U.S. Treasury rate, adjusted each month. That way, no matter what happens to interest rates, you'll always be earning a competitive yield.

So make planning for retirement as simple as it can be with a 3-year variable rate IRA from Wakefield Savings Bank. It's the kind of investment that could leave you in an enviable position.

Audubon Says State Losing Conservation Land

The Massachusetts Audubon Society released the findings of a major study "Losing Ground - The Case for Land Conservation in Massachusetts" at a press conference on the State House steps to direct attention to the rate of land development taking place in the Commonwealth—more than 600 acres are lost each week or an area equivalent to losing 12 Boston Commons every week.

"No longer can we take for granted the aesthetic pleasure of a favorite walk through the woods or even basic necessities like food from a local farm and water from a town well," said Dr. Gerard A. Bertrand, president of the Massachusetts Audubon Society. "At the current pace of development every tree, pond and mulch pile will be a valued commodity in the next century."

The study identified Massachusetts' top 15 most rapidly growing communities over the last five years. Four are communities on Cape Cod. The Merrimack Valley in the Lowell area, suburbs to the south and west of Boston and the islands of Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard were also ranked high for acres lost since 1981. By percentage of growth in development, four small towns in Worcester County—Hopedale, Oakham, Hubbardston and North Brookfield—rank among the top 15 fastest growing communities in the state. In 1986 alone, 12 communities in the Connecticut Valley each saw development of 100 acres or more.

Even with the most conservative estimate of acres developed in the state, the study projects that more than two million more acres could be lost forever to the year 2030. "This would amount to a loss of land nearly three times the size of the state of Rhode Island," Bertrand said.

Even though open space amenities contribute more than 3 billion dollars each year to the state legislature through tourism, agriculture and hunting and fishing, only 1/2 of 1 percent of the state budget is spent on open space protection.

"Massachusetts Audubon is among the most aggressive groups protecting land in the state, yet towns and private land protection groups can not do it alone," Bertrand said. "Only with increased and continued state acquisitions, new sources of funds for local acquisition and development incentives and laws which direct growth to existing developed areas, can we assure that citizens of the Commonwealth will continue to enjoy the open space benefits in the 21st century which we enjoy today."

Bertrand commended Senator Patricia McGovern (D-Lawrence) and Representative Richard A. Voke (D-Chelsea), chairs of the Senate and House Ways and Means committees, for their support and leadership for open space protection. Due to the efforts of Voke, the House increased the bond package $160 million more than the Governor's bill. McGovern's committee added $124 million to the House passed bill, making this the largest open space capital bill ever considered by the legislature.

Concert Rehearsals Underway

The Andover Choral Society, accompanied by orchestra, will sing works by Bach, Gabrielle, Handel, Monteverdi, Purcell, Scarlatti and Schutzausgabe on Saturday, Jan. 30, at Christ Church, Andover. This gala evening of great composers from the Renaissance and Baroque periods will benefit Greater Lawrence Habitat for Humanity.

Rehearsals are held each Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at Christ Church. All parts are welcome and anyone interested in singing challenging and exciting music is invited to join. ACS singers come from Boston, Malden, Tewksbury, Georgetown, Reading, North Reading, Bedford, Newton, Nashua, Salem and Tilton, N.H. as well as Andover, North Andover, Lawrence and Methuen.

Dividend

The board of directors of Standex International Corporation (NYSE) announced that the company's quarterly cash dividend has been increased to 14 cents a share or an annual rate of 56 cents a share, up from the previous annual rate of 52 cents a share. The dividend is payable November 25 to stockholders of record November 10, 1987.

The dividend increase is the 20th in the last 11 years and marks the 93rd consecutive quarterly cash dividend. Standex has paid dividends each quarter since it became a public corporation in November 1964.

ANYTHING YOU WANTED TO KNOW ABOUT WINE BUT DID NOT KNOW WHOM TO ASK

The Sommelier, Inc. (wine advisor, consultant, in French) is inviting those interested in learning about wine to their annual tasting/seminar.

The company is a member of Les Amis du Vin, world's largest society of wine enthusiasts, and has access to more wines than anybody can taste in his/hers lifetime. "It's a great fun, we learn a lot about wines, and taste some excellent food, too," says Marianne Whelan, of Nashua. "I enjoy the Medoc wines, and the Chardonnays from Burgundy and California," says Bill Burt, of Marblehead. Mrs. Burt praised the fact that you can taste a variety of wines prior to selecting the one for you. "We have wasted a lot of money buying by the label, and never heard about the blue bottle wines from Germany before," she added.

Wines featured at the upcoming tasting/seminar will include 1976 Chateau Brane-Cantenac, Margaux, from Bordeaux, and 1983/5 German blue bottle Kabinett and Auslese. It costs $15 per person and further information can be obtained by phoning The Sommelier, Inc. at (603) 429-3060.

40 YEARS OF SERVICE TO THE MERRIMACK VALLEY

To Discuss St. Augustine's Relationships With Women

Rev. George P. Lawless, O.S.A., professor of historical theology at Rome's Augustinianum University and scholar-in-residence this semester at Merrimack College, will lecture on "Augustine, his Mother, his Concubine, his Letters to Women" on Wednesday, Dec. 2, at 8 p.m. in McQuade Library's Alumni Auditorium. The Augustinian priest, one of the leading scholars in the writings of Augustine, will explain how Augustine's relationships with women influenced his religious and philosophical thought.

This year marks the 16th centenary of the baptism of the great bishop, teacher and philosopher. The centenary year has been a time of special celebration and observance by Augustinian communities in this country and around the world.

Augustine was born in the year 354 at Tagaste, North Africa, the son of a pagan father and a Christian mother (St. Monica). A philosopher and teacher of rhetoric, he was baptized at the age of 32 into the faith of his mother, a faith he knew as a child but never embraced. The spiritual classic, "The Confessions of St. Augustine," recounts his intellectual and moral journey toward Christianity.

He returned to Tagaste where he and companions founded the monastic community that is known today as the Order of St. Augustine (the Augustinians serve at Merrimack college, Austin Preparatory School in Reading and several parishes in the region). He was called to be bishop of the nearby Christian community at Hippo in 395 where he served as bishop for 35 years until his death in 430. Renowned as an articulate and brilliant teacher, Augustine's writings are among the principal sources of spiritual and theological thought.

The lecture is free and open to the public.

A native of Philadelphia, Father Lawless was ordained to the priesthood in 1956. He holds master's degrees in Latin, Greek and classical studies and a master's in sacred theology in ecumenics and ethics from Princeton Theological Academy in Staten Island, N.Y. and was assistant professor of classics at Villanova University from 1957-68. Father Lawless also served as dean of University College at Villanova from 1959-62.

He came to Merrimack College in 1968 as associate professor of religious studies and served a five-year term as chairman of the department. He also served as chaplain to the Catholic students at Phillips Academy in Andover. In 1975 Father Lawless was appointed to his present position as professor of historical theology at the Patristic Institute of the Augustinianum in Rome. He returned to Merrimack for the fall semester to teach two seminars in Augustinian studies.

Father Lawless is the author of many articles on Augustine and two books, "The Monastic Legacy of St. Augustine: Its Origins, Growth and Goals" (published in 1985) and "Augustine of Hippo and his Monastic Rule," published this fall by Oxford University.

If the sum of all starlight that falls on the earth could be concentrated in one object, it would equal a 100-watt bulb seen from a distance of 613 feet or the length of two football fields.

WOW!

Your new answering service has a lot of important messages for you.

In addition to telling you we're glad to be in Andover, our entire staff of "bankers with answers" can't wait to help you. How? Let's count the ways. They might start by helping you select the checking or savings account that will be tailor-made for you. Or picking the best mortgage for the house of your dreams. Or showing how you can send two kids to college and still retire on more than a shoestring. Or if you're in business, how you can take advantage of our extensive financial services.

But what makes us really different from other banks in town?

We're small enough to give you the attention and service you deserve. But we're big enough to handle every banking need, making your financial future smoother, easier and more stable than ever.

Whether you're just starting out, know exactly where you're going, or have already "arrived", Warren Five is the answer for you.

So, come in and talk to us. And should you decide to switch over from your existing bank, we can take care of the goodbyes and paperwork for you.

It may have taken us 133 years to get to Andover, but aren't you glad that we're finally here with the answers?

Girls Get Mean

In Reverse

On the sidelines of Andover High School girls' flag football games Oct. 18, Jim Murphy, in cheerleading outfit, talks to Lindsay McCracken, who's dressed for football.
By Laurie A. Hess

At 12:30 p.m. October 18, 40 of Andover High School's roughest, toughest, meanest girls sauntered to Dunn Gymnasium while the boys powdered their noses and donned cheerleading uniforms. Decked out in their team's color and with war paint on their faces, the girls were out to win as the boys cheered them on.

While captains Karen Del Sarto (white team), Lisa Fossella (blue), Colleen O'Leary (yellow) and Ann Marie Charland (red) drilled their players, the coaches, who were some of the teaching staff at Andover High, went over the rules with the referees. The rules were simple: go for the other team's flag before she crosses the goal line. Finally, the games started.

Due to the enthusiastic sign-up for the event, the girls were broken down into four teams with 11 players each in a round-robin-match format. Teams B, the blue team, and C, yellow team, knocked it out on the upper field while down below, teams D, red team, and A, white team, fought for the title.

After about 40 minutes of hard playing and a short half-time show by the team's large but "lovely" cheerleaders, the teams for the final round were determined. The yellow team beat the blue in overtime and the white won over the red.

The tension was building, and the teams were given a few minutes to plan their strategies with the coaches. Ironically, a few drastic plays were provided by the cheerleaders. They all played hard, but the girls were separated from the women as the white team won 27-19 in an overtime battle.

Many thanks to Mrs. Freise who spent so much time organizing this event. "It was much better than last year—more competition and rougher," she said. "Now that we have knocked the wrinkles out, next year will be even better."

Hess is an Andover High School senior.

Holiday Eating

"Healthy Holiday Eating," a community program of tips and tasty recipes for the season, will be presented at the Regional Health Center in Wilmington on Tuesday, Nov. 17, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Sponsored by LITES-TYLES Weight Loss Center, the program is of interest to those on special diets, such as diabetic, low sodium, low cholesterol and low calorie. Linda Balian, BS, diet technician, will demonstrate food preparation techniques and provide helpful tips on recipe modification and food safety. Each participant will receive a complete set of recipes and handouts as well as taste the buffet.

Wellesley Club Meets

The Wellesley Club of the Merrimack Valley held their fall meeting October 28 for dinner at the North Andover Country Club. Virginia Mason of Andover, president of the club, greeted members and introduced the speaker, Nancy Agnew '50, vice president for public affairs at Wellesley College.

Agnew has been employed by the college since 1981. Before that she was director of public relations and assistant to the president of American Heritage Publishing Company. She also worked for "Look" magazine and "The New York Herald Tribune."

Ann-Ellen Hornidge of Andover reported on the club's college admissions work in the area. She and Sheila Segal, also of Andover, are responsible for contacting area high schools and maintaining Wellesley's visibility there. A trip to Wellesley for high school juniors and seniors is planned for October 31. They also administer the Wellesley College book award which is presented to outstanding high school juniors each spring.

The sale of pecans, for the benefit of Wellesley College, will continue. One-pound bags are available in the Andover area from Ginny Mason.

La Leche League To Meet

The Andover/North Andover Group and the Greater Lawrence Group of La Leche League of Massachusetts will meet to discuss "The Art of Breastfeeding and Overcoming Difficulties" on Thursday, Nov. 12, at 8 p.m. at the home of Sherry Klutzow, 10 Andover Terrace, Lawrence, or Thursday, Nov. 19, at 9:30 a.m. at the home of Pam Santiago, 35½ Arnold St., Methuen.

These meetings are the third in the current series of four monthly meetings open to nursing mothers and their babies, pregnant and other interested women. The discussion is informal with opportunity to ask questions and share experiences. Each group maintains a lending library of books on breastfeeding, childbirth and child care. La Leche League may be called at any time for immediate help, encouragement and practical suggestions regarding breastfeeding or to obtain "The Womanly Art of Breastfeeding" manual.

For directions and further information, call the group leaders, Cyndi Givens, Lauri Brown or Corliss Paolino in Andover or Maureen Lyons in North Andover.

For Those Of Us Who Are Older

By Dorothy M. Winn

The Andover Senior Center and all town offices will be closed Wednesday, Nov. 11. There will be no lunch, meals on wheels, Weebus or shuttle service. Senior center patrons are reminded to make Thursday lunch and transportation reservations no later than Tuesday.

Veteran's Day activities in Andover begin with the dedication of the Warren Charles Deyermund Memorial Field at 10 a.m. Following the dedication ceremony, the group will proceed to Spring Grove for a memorial service at 11 a.m. The group will gather on the Ballardvale Green at 11:30 a.m. to honor our Korean and Vietnam veterans.

Deposits for the trip to the Trapp Family Lodge must be received by November 9 and the balance is due November 16. Enjoy two days at the Trapp Lodge in Stowe, Vermont, December 6 and 7 with a traditional Christmas feast, carolling and other treats. The price is $110/twin or $125/single.

A few seats still remain for the November 17 trip to New York City for the Rockettes Christmas Show at Radio City Music Hall. Enjoy orchestra seats and deluxe coach transportation for only $53. The trip includes coffee and dinner stops enroute and time for lunch and window shopping in New York City.

Tickets go on sale Monday, Nov. 9, for the annual Council on Aging Thanksgiving Party to be held Tuesday, Nov. 24, at the senior center. Enjoy a turkey dinner with all the trimmings and dancing to Chet Harnden and his big band sound. Tickets cost $2 for Andover residents and $2.50 for non-residents (non-resident sales after November 16).

The deadline for registration for round 23 of the commodity foods distribution program is Friday, Nov. 6. Eligible residents age 60 and older may register by calling the Council on Aging office at 470-3830 before 4 p.m. You must register for each distribution date. Cheese distribution will take place Monday, Nov. 16, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The Council on Aging will conduct a Holiday Fair on Monday, Nov. 16, at the senior center on Whittier Street from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Craft items, baked goods, gourmet gifts, jams and raffles will be sold. Proceeds benefit the senior center activities fund.

What would you do if you lived alone and fell and couldn't reach the phone? The Andover Council on Aging has a new program that can help you. Lifeguard is Andover's personal emergency response system which can call for help in an emergency. The Lifeguard system is a remote device you wear around your neck, on your wrist or carry in your pocket to provide 24-hour-a-day protection. In an emergency you simply press a button and help is called. Lifeguard is available to Andover residents for the low monthly cost of $20 with a one-time $25 installation fee. For more information, call 470-3800, ext. 292.

Have you ever eaten lunch at the senior center? Nutritious meals are served at 12 noon Monday through Friday for only 50 cents. The only requirements are that you be an Andover resident age 60 or older and that you make a reservation by calling 470-3830 no later than 4 p.m. on the business day preceding the day you plan to attend. Transportation is available on the Weebus at a cost of 35 cents each way.

Iver Anderson of Massachusetts Electric will discuss the special programs available to older residents of the community at the Timely Topics Program on Thursday, Nov. 12, at 10:30 a.m. at the senior center. Refreshments will be served.

Haven Associates

The Andover Haven Associates will meet November 19 at the Andover Commons at 1:30 p.m. Roger Brooks, representing Browns Resort, will be the speaker.

Overnight trips: December 31-January 1, New Year's Party; March 30-31, New York City to see "Chorus Line;" May 7-14, Ireland; June 30-July 3, Ottawa, see Lady Diane; September 28-October 7, Nashville and the Grand Ole Opry. Call Bernie Bresnahan for reservations.

Day trips: December 6, Danversport Yacht Club; March 18, Danversport Yacht Club; April 24, Marriott Hotel to see Julius La Rosa. Call Doris Hudgins for reservations.

Underinflated tires can boost gasoline use 6 percent; 50 mph takes 20 percent less gas than 70 mph; one slowdown and speedup per mile can boost gasoline use 25 percent; an air conditioner can use a gallon per tankful burned; half a minute of idling can burn more gasoline than needed to restart.

Women, Child Support & Divorce

If you are separated from your husband you may feel bound to accept your husband's determination of what is a reasonable figure for weekly child support payments, either because you are afraid he may fight you for custody if you do not accept, or because you feel a Court will not award you any more than he is offering anyway. Before you agree to something which is inadequate for your needs and your children's, you should contact an attorney who can advise you relative to your rights, your responsibilities and the standards a Court is likely to apply.

Phillips Harpist In Recital

The music department of Phillips Academy will present Stephanie Curcio, harp, and Arlene Kies, piano, in recital Friday, Nov. 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the Timken Room in Graves Hall.

The program will include works by Albrechtsberger, Faure, Chopin, Turina, Salzedo and Widor.

Curcio, a member of Phillips Andover and Phillips Exeter faculties, received her B.A. and M.A. in New York where her teachers included Lucille Lawrence and Carlos Salzedo. She has appeared with numerous musical civic organizations, including the Portland, N.H. and Merrimack Valley Philharmonic Symphonies, the Concord Chorale and the American Stage Festival. Curcio is the author of a harp pedagogy series, numerous compositions and arrangements for harp and a keyboard theory

Kies, a member of the Phillips Exeter faculty, studied with Theodore Lettvin, Russell Sherman and Anthony di Bonaventura. She received her B.M. and M.M. from New England Conservatory and was the recipient of a Fulbright-Hayes Fellowship for study in Vienna. Kies has taught at Tufts University and concertized in Canada, Italy and Austria. Recent appearances have included programs at the Currier Gallery of New Hampshire, the Guild of Composers in New York and the Washington Square Contemporary Music Series. She has also appeared at the Fromm Foundation at Harvard and was guest artist on the Queen Elizabeth II.

Pianist In Concert At Exeter Academy

Pianist Peter Warsaw, an alumnus of Phillips Exeter Academy, and violinist Gerald Itzkoff will perform in Phillips Church, Front Street, at 7 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 8.

Warsaw, who has played with the Boston Pops under Arthur Fiedler and performed a recital on National Public Radio, is involved in playing solo recitals and chamber music in the Andover area where he is a member of the music faculty of Phillips Academy, Andover.

Itzkoff, also a member of Andover's music faculty, has served as concertmaster and soloist for the Heidelberg (Germany) Chamber Orchestra on European and world tours. He is affiliated with the New Hampshire Symphony and the Monadnock Festival Orchestras in various capacities. Last year he gave solo recitals in Boston at the French Library and Gardner Museum.

The program will include sonatas by Bach, Beethoven and Debussy. The public is invited free of charge.

Recital Sunday At Academy

The music department of Phillips Academy will present Vincent Monaco, trumpet, and Christopher Walter, piano, in recital Sunday, Nov. 8, at 3 p.m. in the Timken Room in Graves Hall.

The program will include compositions for piano by Mozart, Chopin and Casterede and works by de Falla and Gervaise for trumpet.

Walter, a member of the music faculty, teaches piano, music history and directs the academy chorus. He performs in various chamber ensembles at Phillips Academy and has performed in Europe, the United States and Canada as a soloist and accompanist.

Monaco, who also plays the electric bass, graduated from the University of Massachusetts and Boston University, receiving his B.M. in Education and his Masters in Performance, respectively. He performed with Donnell Heminger and Danny Stiles before coming to Phillips Academy where he is a teacher and band director.

Guitar Concert At Addison

The music department of Phillips Academy will present a concert of music for guitar, with voice, on Sunday, Nov. 15, at 3 p.m. in the Addison Gallery on the Andover campus.

John Major and Allen Combs, tenor, will perform. Major, composer, improviser and guitarist, has played in concert on both coasts and in master classes of Julian Bream, Michael Lorimer and Abel Carlevaro. His composition, "Sea Changes," was published by Lorimer in his series of New American Guitar Composers and was described by Guitar Review as "...bearing the stamp of an almost limitless imagination."

Combs has appeared as soloist throughout the Merrimack Valley area and was recently featured in a performance of "Dido and Aeneas" with the academy orchestra. He is full-time soloist at Follen Community Church in Lexington and will perform with Banchetto Musicale later this fall.

Major will perform his "Sea Changes" and the complete studies for guitar by Heitor Villa-Lobos, in honor of the centennial of the Brazilian composer's birth. Combs will join Major for performances of Benjamin Britten's well-known cycle "Songs from the Chinese" and of Major's "Characters of Light."

The public is invited.

Rising Soprano Appears At ULowell

Up-and-coming soprano Dawn Upshaw, a now frequent guest artist with the New York Metropolitan Opera, will perform Thursday, Nov. 12, at 8 p.m. at the University of Lowell Center for the Performing and Visual Arts.

Upshaw's show will take place in the 980-seat Durgin Hall on the university's south campus at Pawtucket and Wilder Streets. The theater is accessible to the disabled, and free, lighted parking is available.

Tickets may be bought singly or as part of a package including a performance by another young artist, multi-award winning violinist Benny Kim on March 24. For tickets and information, call 459-0350.

'Boys And Ghouls'

The Central Catholic High School Theatre Guild opens its 17th season with the presentation of "Boys and Ghouls Together" from Friday, Nov. 20, through Sunday, Nov. 22, at 7:30 p.m. in the Allan B. Rogers Memorial Theatre at Central Catholic High School, Lawrence.

The show, under the direction of Central Catholic English instructor Karen Moynihan of Methuen, is a comedy which depicts the travels of a youth group who stop at a hostel in the Alps and meet up with the Draculas. Tickets may be purchased from Central Catholic students or at the door.

The 19-member cast, made up of students from Central Catholic, St. Mary High School, Lawrence, and Presentation of Mary Academy, Methuen, includes Christopher Merrill, Dawn Marie Gaivin, Meg Geddes, Kathleen Hughes, Mariola Mroczko and Debbie Vasques, all of Lawrence; Peter Murphy and Bruce Villeneuve of Lowell; Richard LaSpina, Kevin O'Neill, Becky O'Sullivan of Methuen; Christian Fullerton and Erin Murphy of Haverhill; Jackie Danahy of Groveland; Miriam Robbins of Georgetown; Danielle Blaine of Salem, N.H.; Mark Justin and Erik Marino of Plaistow, N.H.; Kevin O'Donnell of Kingston, N.H.

Roger and Betty Desjardins of Andover serve as technical directors.

Central Catholic High School, founded in 1935 by the Marist Brothers, is an all-boys secondary school specializing in Christian education for students in grades 9-12. Boys from 32 Merrimack Valley and southern New Hampshire communities make up the 822-member student body.

Christmas Past

Christmas Past at the Parson Barnard House, 179 Osgood St., North Andover, will be held Sunday, Nov. 15, from 11:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. This historic house portrays the lives of four residents in four period rooms spanning the years from 1715 to 1850.

Sponsored by the North Andover Historical Society and the North Andover Garden Club, the house will be open for tours and decorated with period arrangements by the garden club. Traditional demonstrations such as Nantucket basket-making, silhouette cutting, theorem painting, graining and marbling and spinning will take place in the adjacent barn. Demonstrators, Stephanie Zink for basketmaking, Anne Walsh for theorem painting, Jane Viator for graining and marbling and Nancy Hanger for spinning, will have their crafts for sale.

Refreshments will be available and flute music by Betsy Boynton and Susan Thorne, members of the Merrimack Valley Philharmonic, will accompany the demonstrations. There will be an admission fee.

Andover Television

Andover Television Center, ATC, found on local cable Channel 12, airs programs produced by students and staff of the Andover school system for Andover residents.

Tonight

5:30 p.m. Boston Globe Competition—Arts. This show highlights Boston area youth who participated and won recognition in The Globe art competition.

6 p.m. Cultural Exchange—El Salvador. ATC's series on South America continues with host Tom Meyers, social studies teacher in the Andover school system, who takes a look at scenes from the play A Peasant of El Salvador and joins State Department official Peter Riley and Merrimack College economics Professor Tontar as they debate controversial U.S.-South American policy and relations and the validity of the issues presented in the play.

7 p.m. Video Rewind #7. Journey down the Merrimack River to explore Lowell's historic districts. Find out about the writer's conference that occurred at South Elementary School in the spring and what's hot with the boy's varsity soccer team. Does Karen recover from her strange journey into the "Twilight Zone"?

Wednesday, Nov. 11

5:30 p.m. Warrior Wrap-Up #2. Join hosts Chris Workman and Ann-Marie Charland as they highlight Andover school sports. Find out about Andover High School spirit week and view some football and swimming (girls) high points.

6 p.m. Warrior Football. Here it is: the Lawrence vs. Andover game in its entirety.

Thursday, Nov. 12

6 p.m. Warrior Wrap-Up. If you missed it last night, find out the latest update on Andover school sports.

6:30 p.m. School Daze. A new show. Join host Andrew Greenstein for this entertaining game show. Watch contestants match wits and knowledge as they battle it out in this academic decathlon.

7 p.m. Video Rewind #7. Take a look at historic Lowell, find out about the spring writer's conference at South Elementary and meet soccer coach Mr. Amunsen.

AHS Puts On 'Mousetrap'

The Andover High School Players announce their forthcoming production of "The Mousetrap," Agatha Christie's record-breaking mystery chiller, will take place Friday, Nov. 13, and Saturday, Nov. 14, at 8 p.m. at the Collins Center.

Ed Pascucci will be the detective. This part, which Richard Attenborough created in the original London production, made Attenborough one of the foremost stars of the English stage.

Each of the to her characters is just as important as the detective. They will be played on Friday by Jen Wilson, Craig Durling, Joe Gillam, Sarah DeRocher, Andy Bernard, Laura Fallon and Neil Fater. Saturday night's cast will feature Beth Streeter, Eric Dahlgren, Steve Wrigley, Patricia Squibb, James Robinson, Emily Trespas and John Barrett.

The production is directed by Robert A. La-gue of the Andover High School teaching staff. Holly Shanaman is the stage manager. Settings are designed and executed by Walter Dolan, assisted by the high school drama classes and the technical theater class.

Agatha Christie is one of the most distinguished mystery writers of all time and an astonishingly prolific one, having written some 60 novels, nearly 200 short stories and nine full-length plays. Of all her works, "The Mousetrap," which opened in London in 1952 and is still running, is unquestionably the most successful.

Tickets will be available at the door.

Preservation Society

Sponsors Lunchtime Talk

The Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities, which owns and operates 23 historic house museums in five New England states, will be holding a lunchtime talk at the Otis House, 141 Cambridge St. in Boston Friday, Nov. 13 from 12:10 to 12:45 p.m. The topic will be "Grace and Elegance: Boston Interiors Past and Present."

The Harrison Gray Otis House is an elegant Federal townhouse designed by Charles Bulfinch and built in 1796. Admission at the door is $4 and includes beverage and cookies. Members of the audience are encouraged to bring lunch.

SPNEA events offer participants a chance to explore and experience the flavor and history of old-time New England.

Mackenzie-Quintal

Wedding vows were exchanged between Deborah M. Quintal and Gregory R. MacKenzie at St. Augustine's Church Sept. 27. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. Quintal of 25 Strawberry Hill Road, and the groom is the son of Hugh MacKenzie of Belmont and Joanne MacKenzie of Medfield.

Father Arthur Johnson officiated.

Maid of honor was Beth Quintal of Andover. Bridesmaids were Becky Browning of Essex, Lucia Derba and Patty MacParland of Andover and Anja Skinner and Julie Barry of Boston. Flower girl was Rachel MacKenzie of Wrentham.

Best man was Glenn MacKenzie of Wrentham. Ushers were Richard and Peter Quintal of Andover, Tom Brennan of Medfield, Bill Duggan of Framingham and Kenneth Goddard of Melrose. Ring bearer was Jason Antin of Townsend.

Anita McDuffie played the organ. Soloists were Mary and Anita Zompa, who performed selections from Schubert, Beethoven, Purcell and Stoke.

The bride wore a silk chiffon gown with a full-length chapel train and pearl and alencon lace appliques. She also wore a designer headpiece of pearls and lily of the valley with a chapel length veil of white tulle.

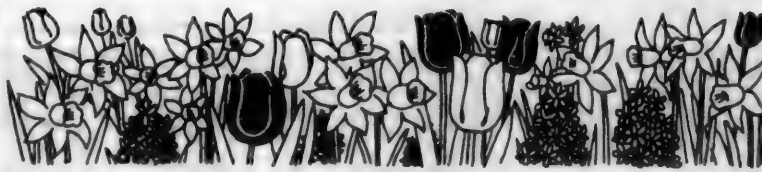

She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley, white roses and lily leaves surrounded by white tulle.

Following a reception at the Andover Country Club, the couple took a wedding trip to St. John in the Virgin Islands.

The bride graduated from the University of Lowell. The groom attended the University of Massachusetts and ULowell.

For Gardeners

Church News Fatima Statue On Exhibit

Pope John Paul II has designated June 7, 1987, until August 15, 1988, as a Marian Year.

Cardinal Law has commissioned a statue of the Lady of Fatima for each region of the diocese to be moved from parish to parish.

The Secular Franciscan Fraternity will sponsor a visit of the Fatima statue at its Nov. 8 meeting in St. Francis of Assisi Church, 94 Bradford St., Lawrence. The Sunday afternoon meeting will include a procession and Holy Hour and will be followed by a social hour. Everyone is welcome.

Make It, Bake It, Stake It

The Peace Chapter of B'nai B'rith Women will hold its fifth annual Make It, Bake It, Stake It dinner/auction at the Beijing Restaurant, 1250 Osgood St., Route 125, North Andover. The evening will include a Chinese buffet dinner, followed by an auction of goods and services donated by people attending and area merchants.

The proceeds help support a children's home in Israel, the anti-defamation league and other B'nai B'rith Women projects. The evening will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a preview of the auction items, followed a half-hour later by the dinner and auction. For additional information or attending, contact Mrs. Barry Silevitch of Andover, chairman.

Bible Series Offered

In observance of the Marian Year, Aurelie Hagstrom of the Word of God Ministry will offer a five-week Bible series, "Mary in the New Testament," beginning Nov. 11 in St. Robert Bellarmine Parish Hall, 198 Haggetts Pond Road, Andover, on Wednesdays from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

This course will focus on Mary and her role in the history of salvation as presented in the New Testament. Marian apparitions (Lourdes, Fatima) and their place in the life of the church will also be examined.

Visitors are welcome.

'Healing Priest' At ULowell

The Rev. Edward J. McDonough of Boston's Mission Church will host a special tribute to the Marian Year at Lowell Auditorium, 50 East Merrimack St., Lowell, Saturday, Nov. 14 at 2 p.m.

McDonough is known internationally as the "healing priest of Boston" who has celebrated healing services for more than a decade throughout the world.

His Healing Voice of Jesus TV program is seen Sunday on Channel 27 at 11:30 a.m.

In response to Pope John Paul's call for honoring the Mother of God in the mysteries of Christ and in His church, McDonough invites all people of all faiths to join in this spirit-filled service to ask her intercession for healings of body, mind and spirit.

McDonough recently led tributes to the Marian Year in Providence and Boston where testimonies were given about the healing power of Jesus.

Admission is free. Special sections have been reserved for the handicapped and people in wheelchairs.

Cremation will take place at Linwood Crematory, Haverhill. Arrangements were by the M. A. Burke Funeral Home, 390 North Main St., Andover.

Lt. Col. Jesse W. Britt

Retired Air Force Lt. Col. Jesse W. Britt of Riverside, Calif., who received the Bronze Star in 1985 for meritorious service during World War II, died October 17, 1987, in Jerry L. Pettis Memorial Veterans Administration Hospital in Loma Linda.

Britt, 70, had been a Riverside resident for 24 years.

On Veteran's Day 1985, more than 50 years after the 16-year-old Britt left his Arkansas home to enlist in the U.S. Army Cavalry, the colonel was presented with the Bronze Star for service during the American defense of Bataan against the Japanese in 1942.

"He was a top-rated hero, a highly decorated veteran of World War II," said his widow, Vivian. "He had 107 missions in the European Theater."

Britt, who had suffered a series of strokes in 1985 and was confined to a wheelchair, received the award at his home from Col. Robert Tribo, a wing commander at March Air Force Base. Britt was stationed at March when he retired from the Air Force in 1964.

Then a staff sergeant, he was among about 200 GIs who refused to surrender, retreated into the Philippine jungle and commenced guerrilla actions against the occupying Japanese forces. He later contacted malaria and managed to escape from the islands on an American submarine.

He was taken to Australia and then transported to the United States where he recovered. Britt returned to active duty trained as a bombardier and flew more than 100 missions over Europe and North Africa during the remainder of the war.

He stayed in the Air Force after the war and was in charge of weapons storage for the original Strategic Air Command, established in 1946. He also served combat duty in the Korean War.

The Britt's have lived in Riverside since the colonel's retirement from military service and he worked for Riverside County as a buyer for 17 years.

Britt, a member of the Magnolia Center Church of Christ, had been hospitalized since September 7.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by daughters, Jessica Anne Carter of Andover and Vivian Lee Britt of Santa Monica, Calif.; three sons, Benjamin K. of Santa Monica; Philip and Timothy, both of Riverside; and one grandson, Benjamin Carter of Andover.

Services were held October 22 in the Garden of Prayer Chapel in Riverside. Burial was in Riverside National Cemetery.

Mae Oschmann

Mae A. (Ford) Oschmann, 89, formerly of 10B Washington Park, died Monday, November 2, 1987, at Colonial Poplin Nursing Home, Fremont, N.H.

Mrs. Oschmann was born and educated in Worcester. She was the widow of Carl Oschmann and is survived by a daughter, Violet Norris of Merrimack, N.H.; a son, Frederick Ford of Vancouver, Wash.; three grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Committal services at Ridgewood Cemetery will be private and at the convenience of the family. Arrangements were by the Dewhirst and Conte Funeral Home of North Andover.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Diabetes Association.

ZBA Hearings Tonight

The proposed addition of an in-law apartment for a single residence home will head a light agenda for the Zoning Board of Appeals at their regular monthly hearings tonight.

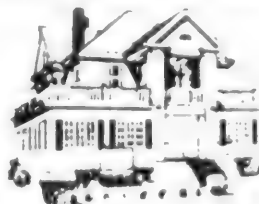

David and Nancy Parker of Derry, N.H., will petition the ZBA to allow the installation of an in-law apartment at 102 Greenwood Road. The addition would be used by Mrs. Parker's mother.

Other petitions before the board include two requests for the placement of television satellite dishes. Woodworth Chevrolet, 339 North Main St., and Mr. Charles Ying, 7 Reservation Road, hope the board will be receptive to their plans.

John and Deanna Atchison of 8 Sutherland Street are seeking a 4 x 10-foot extension to their kitchen. The proposed addition would not meet minimum setback requirements. John Kaitz's petition to construct a warehouse on Lowell Street has been withdrawn for the second straight month, according to Nancy Jeton of the town planning staff. Kaitz has not produced a site plan for the proposed building, Jeton said.

Recycling Saved $7,245

By Virginia Cole

$7,245 is the amount you and Andover Recycling saved the Town of Andover for the month of September.

One hundred and 15 tons of newspaper, magazines and junk mail were picked up from many homes. We all thank you. That was the best September collection ever. Can you do better in October? And if not, how about November? All of you who get a Sunday paper and don't recycle can make a big difference right there. My Globe weighed five pounds this week—just the Sunday edition alone.

The recycling truck will be around on your trash day the weeks of November 9 and 23.

There is a way to recycle plastics. It hasn't come to Andover yet and I'm not sure just when it will, but it, along with mandatory recycling, is in our future.

The Eastern Massachusetts Recycling Association met in Andover last week. CRINC spoke to us. You may have seen the big, white trucks with red letters that go around picking up bottles to be recycled. CRINC was born out of the bottle bill and first used by the beer industry to collect their bottles. Now CRINC, with very aggressive leadership, has spread its interests to waste management in general and recycling in particular.

They are enlarging and improving their plant in Springfield to take, in one container, all your aluminum, three colors of glass, ferrous metals and plastic. Machinery from Germany is being installed which will mechanically sort these recyclables and convert each of them into a form demanded by the market. They are equally aggressive in finding markets and are very proud that nothing from their operation goes into a landfill or up the chimney. There are markets for everything somewhere and they sell. CRINC says their business is in the black and they are growing.

Back to plastics. We saw examples of what the technology can do. Plastics molded into a material that can be used for construction, board feet, fence poles, signposts. Material that can be sawed, nailed, screwed, treated just like lumber, painted if you wish. It has been used in Germany for some time and is now being tested as to strength and durability at the University of Lowell, the biggest plastic research university around. And, of course, it is non-biodegradable so anything made of it would be with us forever. A permanent mail box post instead of those wooden or metal ones that seem to need replacing all too often seems like a great idea.

Everyone at the meeting was ready to send CRINC all our glass, plastics and paper tomorrow, but Springfield is too far away and we must wait for the state to catch up, pass the solid waste bill and get a recycling facility nearby. Hope it won't be too long. $63 per ton plus trucking costs are too big a bite out of my tax dollar.

Schools Examine Participation In Community Service Programs

By Melissa M. De Meo

Representatives from 60 schools converged on Phillips Academy Friday to learn how to start and strengthen community service programs.

"(Community service programs) shouldn't be activity for the sake of activity," said the Rev. Richard Gross, PA Catholic chaplain and history teacher, as well as one of the conference coordinators. "If students are taken seriously, they will provide a lot of energy."

The number of high schools that have community service programs is growing, according to Charles H. Harrison, who wrote a report on the subject for the Carnegie Foundation and who was at the weekend conference. PA has 200 students enrolled in its community service program, said Gross, who co-coordinates it with Mary Minard. The students volunteer in a variety of capacities—at elementary schools, at soup kitchens.

A handful of students were at the PA conference, but most of the participants were school administrators and faculty. They all attended workshops on topics like how to initiate a program, school support systems, standard setting and student leadership and motivation.

Gross said he would get just as much out of the workshop as the participants. "For me, it's a real opportunity; we hope to strengthen our own (service program)," he said.

Programs vary from school to school. Some are heavily monitored; at least one is student run. Some schools give credit for participation; others don't. Some even make it a requirement for graduation, a policy that irks Cynthia Parsons, director of SerVermont, an organization that provides incentive grants to Vermont schools to set up service programs. "It's hard to learn to volunteer in a mandatory situation. You have successfully killed community service as democratic."

Parsons, Harrison and Mel King, adjunct professor and director of the Community Fellows program at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, were all on a panel Friday night in PA's Kemper Auditorium to answer the questions: "What is community service and why should a high school student do such service?"

Parsons gave a preview of her answers before the panel met. "I am saying that community service is the connection one makes between what the community needs and what you can offer."

It is feasible in all coursework, said Parsons, who is a former education editor at The Christian Science Monitor, using as an example the teacher of a Spanish class in a Burlington, Vt. school who came to her for suggestions.

"I said, 'Why don't you translate the requirements for getting a driver's license? Vermont doesn't do that,'" Parsons said. "She said, 'What a good idea.' She was delighted. And it was a tremendous help to the community."

Seemingly small services help a lot, she added. "The visiting nurses usually know little old ladies. If two kids came every Thursday for one hour to do little chores, it would make all the difference in the world."

But community service programs should be instituted, Parsons said, only if it helps traditional academic studies.

Harrison said sometimes the students get more out of their projects than they do out of their books. He mentioned a Hudson, Ohio high school student who volunteered in a nursing home. "One of the men he met there was a World War I veteran, and he learned more about history than he did out of any history class," Harrison said.

That student, described by the program's faculty director, Dee Phillips, as reserved, has since set up a similar program at his new school, Yale University.

"The students get character development, self-esteem building," said Jeff Coolidge, president of the Thomas Jefferson Forum, the one-year-old group dedicated to helping high school students set up service programs. "They are dealing with situations that can be difficult for an adult to deal with. They learn that they can do it; they make contributions. And it certainly helps on resumes to college and jobs."

The Forum will send letters of recommendation to colleges for students who complete their programs. One of the nine Boston and area high schools at which Coolidge's organization has set up model programs is Andover High School.

Students in such programs get the opportunity to test the waters before entering a field of study or career, Phillips said. One of her students—the one who is now at Yale—ended up as an aide in the nursing home because he said he didn't feel comfortable working with children.

"He just clicked with the adults," Phillips

Major Janie Maddox

Air Force Major Eulogizes Vets Next Wednesday

Janie Maddox, a major in the United States Air Force, will deliver the eulogy at Wednesday's Korean and Vietnam Veterans Services, to be held as part of Andover's Veterans' Day observances.

The ceremony for servicemen of the Korean and Southeast Asian conflicts will commence at the Ballardvale Green at 11:30 a.m. Opening remarks will be delivered by John C. Doherty of the VFW, while Army Major Chaplain Robert Eldridge will give the opening prayer.

The West Junior High School Band and choir will perform a hymn, after which the placing of wreaths will be made by George Milne of the VFW and Clarence Johnson, Commander of the American Legion.

The Legion/VFW/Andover police department firing squad will give the Volley to the Dead, after which taps will be played by a local student. The Clan McPherson Bag Piper will play another Hymn, and Wilfred Pelletier, an ex-POW, will raise the POW/MIA flag to conclude the ceremony. All participants are then invited to a buffet luncheon at the Andover Lodge of Elks, 400 South Main St.

The Korean and Vietnam Veterans Services will be preceded by the 10 a.m. dedication of the Warren Charles Deyermund Memorial Sports Field. Deyermund was an Andover resident killed during combat in Vietnam in 1969. The ceremony will feature representatives of the American Legion, the VFW, the Andover police department, the board of selectmen and the Greater Lawrence Musicians Union band Local 372.

A Memorial Service for all veterans will take place at Spring Grove Cemetery at 11 a.m., with Major Eldridge delivering the Eulogy.

Town Waits For Selectmen's Ruling On AHPC Recommendations

By Lewis C. Howe

How the Board of Selectmen deal with recommendations by the Andover Housing Partnership Committee (AHPC) to oppose state funding for four mixed-income housing proposals will provide a test for the town's housing partnership process, according to town physical planner Stephen Colyer.

"It will be interesting to see how the system the selectmen set up will work," Colyer said, referring to guidelines that call for the AHPC to make recommendations on comprehensive permit proposals to the board, who then render a final decision before forwarding the town's opinion on projects to the state housing finance agency (MHFA).

The AHPC last week voted not to recommend state subsidy for the Northwoods, Dundee Place, Abbots Pond and Riverview Commons housing proposals, which would include a substantial number of low-and-moderately priced units. Colyer drafted a letter stating committee's opposition this week to be presented to the selectmen at their next regular meeting on November 23.

While a majority of housing committee members deemed the four proposals unacceptable, the selectmen may have a different view, Colyer said. "If there's a disagreement on a proposal," he explained, "it must be resolved in-house so a united opinion can be sent to Boston."

If the selectmen choose to vote in favor of funding any of the projects, they may disregard the AHPC's suggestion. Trouble could result, Colyer said, if the housing committee wishes to send its letter of recommendation to the state along with the conflicting view of the selectmen. "A couple of committee members said if the selectmen disagree, then both recommendations may go to the state," he stated. "That was not my understanding, and I would not think the town would want to send mixed signals to the state" on any proposal.

The town planner said he was "not surprised" by the committee's thumbs-down vote on the four comprehensive permits. "I never supposed they'd recommend funding for any of them," Colyer remarked, saying "I was surprised they (conditionally) approved funding for Winn Development."

Winn has proposed the construction of Brookside Estates, a 190-unit mixed-income project that the AHPC wants to scale down to 150 units. The developer is currently negotiating the number of units with the Zoning Board of Appeals, which favors 134 units for the proposed housing devel-

A Bigger And Better Post Office

Although work on the Stevens Street post office had already begun, groundbreaking ceremonies were held Friday, Oct. 30.

According to Postmaster Tony Mendoza, Andover has needed the new facility for more than 25 years. The search for a site began in 1972. Although other sites were available, the U.S. Postal Service wanted to keep the building within the downtown area.

Mendoza said the 32,000-square foot post office should be finished by early 1989. The ornamentation is based on the post office of the early 1800s. The new building will have:

- More than double the work space of the current post office (the Main Street building has an 8,000-square foot work area; the new one will have 17,000 square feet).
- More than a 1,000 more post office boxes.
- Thirty-five parking spaces.
- Underground parking for the Postal Service vehicles.
- Earlier delivery service since Andover mail will be sorted locally instead of in Lawrence.
- Better working environment for Postal Service employees.

Mel Torme jokes with Bill and Bunny Maren before the singer's Great Gershwin Concert last Thursday at the Collins Center. The Victor Co., headed by the Marens, sponsored the show.

They Got Rhythm

By Melissa M. De Meo

Boy, can they sing.

That seemed to be the consensus after last week's Great Gershwin Concert at the J. Everett Collins Center for the Performing Arts. And they can. Mel Torme and Leslie Uggams wowed a full house with their renditions of classic George and Ira Gershwin tunes. Peter Nero's dazzling piano-playing wasn't lost on the audience either.

They gave the trio a standing ovation at the end of the two and 1/2 hour performance. Of course, this wasn't the same audience who swarmed the Collins Center for the Joan Jett concert last spring.

"I don't think Gershwin has a terrible appeal for the younger age group," Torme said backstage before the performance. "But from 19, 20 on up, there's an enormous appeal. It's plain wonderful music, and anyone with any ear for music can appreciate that."

Torme's been waiting 13 years for this. And over was the third stop on a national tour for the Great Gershwin Concert, which he's wanted to write for a long time.

"The main thing is that I was able to put together elements that I admire very much—and that is Miss Uggams and Peter Nero," he said. "But it was tough to make three people's schedules come together. When they found themselves available—and it was planned way ahead in advance—I wrote the connective dialogue and put it together."

The concert is not a retelling of the composer's life, although it is pretty much chronological from popular pre-Gershwin songs to the full-scale opera Porgy and Bess, which he started writing three years before his death at age 39. What holds it all together is Torme's "connective dialogue," which, albeit corny at times, eases the transition from one segment to the next. The show is divided into segments like "Gershwin and Love," "His Concert Music," "Ira and Others."

The sets also mirrored the chronology of Gershwin's life—from the tiny vaudeville houses where the young pianist got his show business start to the champagne glasses and gold and green tinsel that represented the party life he came to know and love so well.

Some of the props, incidentally, including a big lighted sign inscribed with Gershwin's name, were built by the Collins Center's own production stage manager, Walter Dolan.

But it wasn't the sets the people came for. They came for the music—and they got plenty of that. "I've Got A Crush On You." "Fascinating Rhythm." "Rhapsody In Blue." "Embraceable You." "Someone to Watch Over Me." Songs that are so familiar you almost forget Gershwin wrote them all. There were some more obscure, but equally lovely, tunes, which Torme grouped into a segment titled "The Lost Gershwins," which were put into a film called The Shocking Miss Pilgrim nine years after Gershwin's death. Throughout, Uggams proved that her voice has matured and that she is capable of rendering a tender ballad, as well as really belting out a song, like the selections from Porgy and Bess.

The singing was broken up with a fair amount of instrumental music, thanks to Nero, who played Gershwin's Rhapsody In Blue in its entirety from memory. His interpretations of Gershwin's music would have done George proud.

Nero was the first of the trio to appear on stage, followed by Uggams, then—what they'd Torme proves that he can do more than sing. He became a big band drummer for the Marx Orchestra at age 18.

Uggams chats with friends after the show. Uggams' renditions of songs from Porgy and Bess—such as "Since My Man Is Gone"—were outstanding.

Torme can scat his way through a song as if it were written that way.

OPINION

THE TOWNSMAN, NOVEMBER 5, 1987

Education Costs

Supt. of Schools Kenneth R. Seifert raised some interesting points in his conversation with the Budget Committee last week as the proposed funding of public education for Andover in the coming year got underway.

Basically, Seifert stated the time had arrived for Andover to make a determination as to the future course of Andover education.

The school administrator said that the schools place well in standardized tests and other measures taken to determine where Andover stands in comparison to other school systems.

But, he cautioned, such measures of accomplishment show recall and comprehension but not analytical skills.

Seifert felt that the town should not be satisfied with simply meeting and surpassing such goals, but rather to provide more for its students and professional staff.

While it is an accomplishment to attain and surpass the 95 percentile in testing, Seifert feels the town can go further.

To do so would mean providing time and finances for professional development.

Staff development and curriculum revision have been woefully underfunded over the years, Seifert pointed out.

All of this points to a warning sounded almost annually by the superintendent, with the added proviso on his part that while attention to such matters is desirable, he is ready to accept the decision of the town as to what financial commitment the town wishes to make to education.

The superintendent, of course, is right in his assessment of the town's school system and the decisions the residents of the community must make in funding the school system.

It is proper to have staff development for more than a brief period during the course of the school year.

And, there should be more time dedicated to curriculum development in order to keep pace with modern educational trends.

But, there is an important consideration, one which the budget committee must take into consideration as it wrestles with the suggestions of the school administration.

That is, how much will the people of Andover be willing to pay to implement the programs as suggested to carry the town's school system into the 21st century.

Traditionally the town has supported the necessary items within the school budget, but has been hesitant to add funds for some of the items as suggested a week ago by the superintendent.

What becomes a basic necessity then for the people of Andover, is to make a determination as to what they mean when they say that the Andover school system is superior and a principal reason for occupancy in the town.

To continue that thinking will require additional funding through municipal tax dollars provided by residents. It is they who will have to decide if the school system is that superior and worthy of additional financial support.

DOWN THE YEARS

75 Years Ago — November 1912

Several political rallies are scheduled this week before the election on Tuesday. Republicans will hold a rally at Town Hall on Saturday, and at Abbott Village on Monday. Democrats will hold a rally on Monday at the Abbott Village Hall, which will be followed by a rally by the Progressives.

The Stowe school defeated the Williams Hall team of Phillips Academy last week by the score of 20 to 0.

The installation of the officers-elect of Andover Council K of C will be held on Friday evening. The installing officer will be William Thornton of Lowell.

The Royals will hold a dance in the Town Hall this evening, with music to be furnished by the Columbian orchestra.

A local hen thief was sentenced to six months in jail by the local police court has withdrawn his appeal.

50 Years Ago — November 1937

The local school board may in the not too distant future generate its own electricity for the central schools on the basis of figures submitted at the meeting Tuesday night.

The Free Church will hold its annual fair in the Parish House with a Turkey supper at 6:15 on Friday, November 12.

The annual Red Cross Roll Call will start on November 11, Armistice Day, and continue through Thanksgiving Day. The Roll Call headquarters will be located in the American Legion Rooms here; a telephone, Andover 1646, has been installed.

Rev. Samuel Overstreet, pastor of the First Baptist church at Gardner for the past five years, accepted on Wednesday the call of the Andover Baptist church to become pastor here.

A destroyed camp and a burned toe resulted from an early morning fire today at a camp owned by Donald McDonald on Rattlesnake Hill road.

This evening at 8:15 the Phillips Academy Concert Series, which includes Joseph Szigeti and Richard Crooks, will open with a recital of music for two pianos by the English pianists Ethel Bartlett and Rae Robertson.

25 Years Ago — November 1962

The selectmen are going to complete a list of all available land in South Andover, which might be considered usable for school purposes.

Will West Parish Drive finally be accepted by the town? The answer to that question has been left up to developer Albert E. Schlott. The selectmen have urged Mr. Schlott to spend $1500 on a sealer for the road.

The Finance Committee has offered its own ideas of how a capital expenditure program can be set up, within a four-year period, and will discuss the subject soon with the selectmen.

A whopping turnout of voters is anticipated next Tuesday when all of the town's six polling places will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. There are 9,726 eligible voters in Andover.

The town is enthusiastically applying for federal funds under the "accelerated public works program."

10 Years Ago — November 1977

School Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert reported to the school committee Tuesday that only one Andover pupil had been sent home earlier in the day because of a lack of immunization records.

Mrs. Virginia Hammond was appointed Conservation Aide by Acting Town Manager Sheldon S. Cohen last week. Mrs. Hammond will be carrying out the inspection work and other duties incumbent on the conservation commission.

The Central Business District merchants have responded enthusiastically to a Christmas Window Display contest for the coming season. The name of the winner—voted on by Andover shoppers—will be announced Dec. 19.

The selectmen will consider appointing a citizen's committee to evaluate the town's options on solid waste management, appointment of a full representative to the Merrimack Valley Regional Planning Commission, and a report on the arbitration proceedings involving Andover firefighters.

Harvesting

Harvesting is underway for those crisp and crunchy carrots, parsnips and turnips available at roadside farm stands, farmers' markets and local supermarkets.

The New England climate is well suited to the cultivation of parsnips. They are planted in the spring and harvested after the first frost in the fall as well as during the winter or early the next spring.

Parsnips require a long, cool growing season, as they are strictly a winter vegetable.

Swimmers Finish Undefeated

"8 and 0 — no more to go!" read the sign on "the rock" Monday. Not since 1981-83, when the Andover High School varsity swim team had a three year string of 22-0, have the Golden Warrior Wave gone undefeated to capture the Merrimack Valley Conference title.

This year's team accomplished this with solid teamwork and maximum efforts from every member which resulted in substantial time improvements and higher placements within events.

Andover defeated a powerful Chelmsford team on October 27, 92-80, led by triple winners Laura Koerckel, Erika Suduiko and Amy Van Aken.

Co-captain Johanna Hohn, Kate Robb, Van Aken and Kristen Hubbell won the 200 yard medley relay while Suduiko posted a state qualifying time to win the 200 yard freestyle with Pam Boucher in third.

Koerckel won the 200 individual medley in state time while Tracey Pool was third. Hubbell was second in the 50 free with Lisa Fox fourth. Mia Kearins was fourth and Patti Del Trecco fifth in the diving competition.

The 100 yard butterfly belonged to Van Aken as she extended her undefeated string in the event. Laura Ghirardini was third and Hohn fifth.

Suduiko captured the 100 free with Pool in third. Van Aken won the 500 free with Fox and Boucher third and fourth. Only one second separated second and fourth places. Fox and Boucher both made sectional cut times.

Hubbell won the 100 yard backstroke, missing state cuts by two one-hundredths of a second. Ghirardini was fourth.

Koerckel took the 100 yard breaststroke in state qualifying time while Robb and Bryn McGovern were third and fifth, both with personal best times.

Pool, Ghirardini, Duduiko and Koerckel won the 400 yard freestyle relay.

Methuen hosted Andover last Thursday and Andover came away with a 121-47 victory. A small, but strong, Ranger team fought Andover every step of the way.

Hubbell, Robb, Pam Boucher and co-captain Lisa Herrmann took the 200 yard medley relay while Fox won the 200 free with Rebecca Poulo second and Janet Snell fifth.

Suduiko won the 200 I.M. with Karen Pedersen second and McGovern third.

Herrmann was second in the 50 free with Tricia Dziadosz fourth and Debbie Brendle fifth.

Kearins piled up 184.35 points to capture the diving event and qualify for states. Dee Dee Castignoli was second and Janet Hon third, both recording personal best scores.

Tracey Pool won the 100 yard butterfly while Robb showed a four-second time improvement to take second place while Kim Maloney placed third, scoring a personal best.

Ghirardini won the 100 yard freestyle with a personal best time. Allyson Bates was second and Eliza Tilghman, in her first try at the event, placed fourth.

Pool won the 500 free in sectional qualifying time. Eszter Vajda continued her improvement at the distance with her highest finish this season to take second place honors. Sandi Rygwalski was fifth.

Hubbell won the 100 yard backstroke with a personal best time. Allyson Bates was third while Cheryl Castignoli was fifth.

Robb won the 100 yard breaststroke with Karen Pedersen second and Monica Davis fifth.

Fox, Boucher, Ghirardini and Suduiko won the 400 free relay with Dianne Schwarz, Andie Harris, Christine Spighesi and Sue Garabedian second and Kristen Schmuhl, Heather Reghitto, Kristen Alberich and Ellen Cohen third.

Members of the Andover High School team presented the Jane Cronin Memorial Award to the outstanding Methuen swimmer of the meet. The award, in memory of Jane Cronin, former Methuen High School and Andover YMCA coach, was given to Nicole Marrota.

The Methuen meet marked the close of high school swimming careers for seven Andover seniors: co-captain Lisa Herrmann, freestyle sprints and breaststroke; co-captain Johanna Hohn, backstroke, butterfly, distance freestyle, I.M.; Cheryl Castignoli, backstroke; Patti Del Trecco, diving; Tricia Dziadosz, freestyle sprints, butterfly; Kim Maloney, freestyle, butterfly; Janet Snell, distance freestyle, breaststroke. Coaches Patty Barrett and Nancy Brennan presented roses to the girls.

The Golden Warrior Wave competes in the Merrimack Valley Conference championship meet at Haverhill High School next Friday. Diving championships will be held at Lowell High School on Wednesday.

On Team

Joe McDonald, son of William and Mary McDonald of North Andover, has been named to the 1987 Bridgewater State College men's cross-country team. He will be running under third-year Coach Ed Delgado.

McDonald is a graduate of North Andover High School where he ran for Coach Bob Kelly.

He is a junior at Bridgewater State college where he is pursuing a degree in commercial art.

Warriors Just Dominate Lowell

By Lewis C. Howe

How one-sided was it, you ask? How dominant were the Andover Golden Warriors in the second quarter against Lowell last Friday night? How dominant was William of Normandy in 1066? For that matter, how dominant were the Chicago Bears in Super Bowl XX?

It was a complete and utter annihilation on the floor of Lowell Stadium for one period of football, and when it was over and Andover led 33-0, there was an almost morose sadness for the host Red Raiders, who had still to suffer through the second half of what had long ceased to be a contest.

After a scoreless first ten minutes, Warrior running back Devon Arsenault (8 carries, 92 yards) opened the second quarter by taking a handoff from Brandon McCue at the Andover 47, breaking one tackle and outrunning the Red Raiders secondary up the left sideline for 53 yards and his fifth touchdown of the season.

Lowell's ensuing drive stalled at the Raider 44, and Scott Ogden's punt was returned by John Perry to the Andover 31. Perry's number was called on the next play from scrimmage as McCue hit the senior end over the middle at the Warrior 45. Perry took it from there, outdistancing cornerback Todd Boyle (among others) for the first of three TD receptions he would tally during the onslaught.

After a three-downs-and-punt series by Lowell, McCue took his offense 58 yards in five plays for the Warriors' third score of the period. McCue (8-11, 220 yards in one half of play) capped the drive by hitting Scott Carleton on a quick slant for a 15-yard scoring strike. Andy Weiner missed the conversion, and the visitors led, 20-0.

"A lot of the credit has to go to the offensive line," stated Dave Bettencourt, Andover Assistant Coach. "Perry ran longer pass routes than usual, and the line gave McCue plenty of time to throw the ball to him."

The fun really started after Perry's first TD, as the Warriors' squibbed kickoff was fumbled by the Red Raiders and covered by Andover junior Kurt Brucato at the Lowell 37. Two McCue-to-Perry tosses later it was 26-0. But it wasn't over yet.

A second pseudo-on-side kick bounced off Lowell's receiving team like they were bumpers on a pinball machine, and this time Tom Benachietti recovered for the Warriors. "Our kick coverage hadn't been real good earlier in the season," explained Bettencourt. "One of the things we did was to work with the squib kick for the past couple of weeks."

Bettencourt said the combination of aggressive special teams play and the light rain that fell throughout the game led to the two consecutive fumbled kickoffs. While Andover was already in control by this point, Coach Bettencourt commented "those plays broke the game open."

With the special teams granting him the luxury of three consecutive possessions, McCue went for the gold one more time, hitting Perry on a fly pattern over the hapless Boyle at the five yard line. Perry waltzed into the end zone for his third touchdown catch in 3:06, and it was time to bring in the jayvees.

All told in the second quarter, the Warriors racked up 269 yards in offense and scored 33 points in 6:59, including 19 points in 35 seconds. Perry hauled in four passes for 151 yards and three TDs, and McCue completed six consecutive pass attempts, four for touchdowns.

Bettencourt was also pleased with the performance of his defense, who turned back an early Lowell drive when Tom Murray recovered a fumbled snap by Quarterback Billy Rizos on the Warrior 46 with 36 seconds to go in the first quarter.

"We play a 'bend but don't break' defense," Bettencourt remarked. "They had a little success early with the running game, but we felt we'd be in good shape if we forced them to pass because (Rizos) had been out for the last two games and he was still hurting."

Warriors

Once the Warriors had staked themselves to a lead, Lowell was forced to go to the air, which netted them nothing except frustration. Lost in the euphoria of the second quarter's offensive show was the play of the defense, which held the Raiders to 50 total yards for the half. Mike Marinaro and Steve D'Urso each registered one sack of Rizos, who finished the night at 2-8 for just 19 yards and one interception.

The Warriors played their subs the entire second half, but still added to their lead. Paul DeMarco's one-yard plunge made it a ridiculous 40-0 midway through the third quarter before Lowell was finally able to move the ball against the Andover second-stringers. A strong second-half ground attack by Ogden and Tom Machado put the Raiders on the scoreboard, as Machado scampered for 16 yards with 40 seconds to go in the third period to make it 40-6. Sophomore half-back Damon Chaplin's 7-yard run accounted for the final score with 12 seconds left in the no-contest.

The Warriors performed without the help of Coach Dick Collins, whose wife passed away Saturday morning. Andover Athletic Director Dick Bourdelais said "the whole coaching staff came together and played a role" in the Lowell victory. "There was no one central figure," he said. "Dave Bettencourt ran the defense during the game and Justin DeMarco ran the offense. Obviously, everybody did their job very well." Bettencourt added the assistants' jobs were made easier by Collins, who "organized everything for us beforehand."

Having now won five straight games, the Warriors will prepare for that classic matchup of high-powered offense versus stubborn defense when the Lawrence Lancers invade Eugene Lovely Field tomorrow night at 7. The Lancers (2-4-1) have given up just six touchdowns all season, with linebackers Kevin Drouin and Charlie Guido anchoring the stingy defense.

"We'll stay with what we do well," commented Bettencourt. "We'll use the weapons we have at our disposal." That means giving Arsenault the ball and throwing to Perry as much as possible, he quipped.

Offensively, Lawrence is less than imposing, as the Lancers have scored just three touchdowns in seven games. In last week's 0-0 tie with Tewksbury, Lawrence totaled an anemic 103 yards of offense, including minus-ten yards passing.

A victory over the Lancers would keep the pressure on undefeated (7-0) Chelmsford, which not only leads Andover in the Merrimack Valley Conference, but is also one of two teams ahead of the Warriors in the Super Bowl Ratings.

The Golden Warriors hope to have Collins back at the helm in time for the Lawrence tilt. Bettencourt noted the team "had a normal practice (Monday). He (Collins) had this well organized and we just stepped in and did what he planned."

Harriers Lose

The Andover High School girls' cross-country team lost to Lowell 48-15. The Lowell team produced the first winning six runners and walked away with the win. Andover's top runner in the meet was Diane Hinchey who placed seventh and Michelle Toth was eighth. Other Andover runners placed as follows: Melissa Salazar (10), Jackie Kupa (13), Maria Dukas (14), Jeanne Kenney (15), Beth Mayers (16), Cinda Kelley (1&7) and Vicki Arthur (23).

Open House

The Clark School for Creative Learning, 487 Locust St., Danvers, is having an open house Sunday, Nov. 8, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

The school emphasizes a strong academic curriculum with an emphasis on individualizing math for each child, strong writing skills, computer education beginning in kindergarten, French beginning at grade three, literature and history and science which emphasizes how people have made scientific discoveries in the past and how our knowledge of the world continues to change. Students participate in drama, dance, art, music, puppetry, swimming and skiing and trips to on-site locations related to areas being studied.

Lady Warriors Capture MVC Championship

By Jay Saunders

In the past week the Lady Warriors played three excellent games and walked away with the first Merrimack Valley championship.

The week's first game was a hard-fought tie with a Westford team that had a bit of luck on its side. Andover took control of play from the opening whistle and pounded Westford's defense. Time and again forwards Heseltine, Cassily and Petzold beat their marks only to have the shot go just wide or be stopped.

Westford was denied any effective offensive movements by a defense that denied penetration and initiated quick counterattacks. The lone Westford goal came on a blind kick that drifted high and managed to just fall under the crossbar. The half ended with Andover down 1-0 despite outstanding play by central defenders Michela Corkery and Andrea Duffy.

Andover outshot Westford 20-3 in the second half, but still could not score. With barely three minutes to play, Shaleen Cassily and Sharon Petzold were finally rewarded when Petzold scored to salvage a tie.

In what was the championship game, a young Billerica team had no real chance. Once again it was the Lady Warrior midfield that set the tone. Halfbacks Tanya Kachen, Krissie Carothers, Kathleen Radulski, Kerry Fitzpatrick, Jodi Jangro, Kathy Doran and Jodi Saunders provide Coach Loschi with the ability to substitute freely and still maintain dominance over most teams. Andover's midfield applied unrelenting pressure that finally broke the defense when Saunders followed a Heseltine shot to make it 1-0.

The Lady Warriors continued an aggressive attack in the second half, moving to 2-0 when Cassily ran a Petzold cross into the net. The visitors were closed out 3-0 when Saunders got her second goal on a cross from Erin Lynch.

North Andover is always a big game, especially when both teams are looking forward to post-season play. This time it was the Andover defense that shut down a highly regarded Scarlet Knight offense. Co-captains Karen Del Sarto and Corkery led Brenna Cronin, Michele Meli, Mina Sheel, Andrea Duffy and Krissie Carothers in a fine exhibition of total defense that allowed North Andover few meaningful opportunities.

Junior Carothers put Andover up 1-0 when she deftly touched a corner kick to goal, Lynch and Fitzpatrick getting the assist.

Senior forward Heseltine had her finest game as she constantly drew two defenders with aggressive, uncompromising play. Fellow senior wing Petzold used her speed to keep the defense off balance and provide the assist to Berberian to make the final 2-0.

Against a strong Westford junior varsity team, Jen Sonntag and Debbie Donovan teamed up for the 1-0 victory. Donovan scored two goals against Billerica, with Sonntag getting an assist. Kara Slavin finished the scoring at 3-0 on an Eva Derba pass. Gwen Duff was excellent in defense.

In their only defeat of the season, Coach Najen's team completely dominated North Andover, but came up on the wrong side of a 1-0 score.

PeeWee A's Win Two

The Andover PeeWee A hockey team skated to two victories and a tie in league contests this past week.

Andover 7

Chelmsford 3

Andover downed Chelmsford 7-3 in a Twin State League contest. Led by Benjie Ristuccia's three-goal hat trick, Andover racked up a 6-0 lead before Chelmsford got on the board. Dan McKew and Brian Flanagan each scored twice. Steve Neal assisted on five goals.

Andover 2

No. Andover 1

Andover and North Andover played a spirited Twin State League game on Saturday in which Andover prevailed 2-1.

Andover took a 1-0 lead midway through the first period as McKew converted a rebound for a goal. Flanagan and Brendan Finneran drew assists. North Andover scored 30 seconds before the period ended to tie the game.

The game-winning goal came with two minutes left in the second period as Jay Stella drove the puck into the net. McKew and Paul Allard assisted.

Fred Sunderland played an outstanding game in goal with great help from the defensive quartet of Finneran, Allard, Dan Trede and Adam Gurry.

Andover 4

Melrose 4

Andover and Melrose battled to a 4-4 tie in a Valley League game on Saturday.

Andover led 2-0 after one period on goals by Bob Daley and Jay Stella.

Stella and Brian Flanagan lit the lamp in the second period, but Melrose scored three times. A Melrose goal with a minute and a half remaining in the game left the final score 4-4.

Assisting on goals were Stella (2), Daley, Allard, Neal and Ryan Lynch.

West Wins Again

By S. Muffin

The Andover West freshmen football team won their fourth in a row (14-0 over Lowell) behind an incredible defensive display. The leaders of Coach Carney's defense were the linebacking corps of Will Lowry, Brian Smith and Sean Veasy (who reminds this writer of the legendary Jeff Towne, who starred at linebacker for Andover High School during the early '70s). This trio constantly provided the punch that shut down Lowell's running game. Veasy was the standout as he played sideline to sideline and behind the line of scrimmage and made bone-jarring tackles. Safety Matt Orlando also had an outstanding game as he made two textbook open field tackles that prevented Lowell touchdowns and added two interceptions that thwarted Lowell drives, one late in the game. He now has five interceptions on the year. Rounding out the defensive charge were Jeff Foley, who had an interception at cornerback, and the defensive line play of Terry Retelle, Adam Ferry, Ryan Beal, Chris Davis and Joey Marinaro.

West received the opening kickoff. Brett Hammond took the ball on the second play and scampered around left end and a tremendous block by Kevin Murphy for 55 yards and carried the ball down to the eight-yard line. The Lowell defense tightened for three plays and then, on the fourth down, Joe Iarrobino kept the ball on an option pass and was stopped inches short of a touchdown.

The offense took over on their own 45-yard line following a Lowell punt. West went to the air and Iarrobino connected with Hammond on a 55-yard pass for the touchdown. Hammond's kick was good for the extra point.

The second quarter featured the passing combination of Matt Perry to Andy Brent (five receptions on the day for 110 yards), but when the ball was in immediate scoring position, the Lowell defense tightened up. Lowell stopped West on the ten-yard line as Perry was tackled inches short of a first down and later Lowell caused West to fumble on the two-yard line.

West was frustrated on numerous drives in the third quarter. One drive featured a catch over the middle by Andy Bedell who proceeded to run over three Lowell defenders and drag two others for ten yards, the play covering 25 yards. But, the Lowell defense stopped West by recovering a questionable fumble.

West's final points of the game came in the fourth quarter. Under the arm of Perry and the receiving of Iarrobino and the Davis brothers, West moved the ball 70 yards, the score coming on a 12-yard pass from Perry to Iarrobino who broke two tackles to get into the endzone. Hammond kicked the extra point to extend his streak to 13 straight.

The offensive line of Murphy, Eric Greenstein, Garret Farris, John Benson, Joey Marinaro and fullback Craig DerTrainian did an excellent job of protecting the quarterbacks and providing the time necessary for them to make the passes.

The team would like to express its appreciation to all the parents, faculty, students and alumni who attended the game and provided support. Defensive captain Will Lowry stated, "With our crowd support, it's like having 15 players on the field."

Raiders, Dolphins Winners

The Raiders upended the Colts 12-6 and the Dolphins outran the Redskins 33-0 in Andover Junior Football League action this past week.

The league will wind up play with another two-game slate this Sunday at Doherty Junior High School.

Tickets to the league banquet will be on sale at the game. The annual awards dinner will be held at the Greater Lawrence Vocational High School in West Andover on November 12 at 6 p.m.

Raiders 12 - Colts 6

Rejji Hayes and Keith Carey scored touchdowns then contributed to an outstanding defensive effort which shut down the Colt attack.

Hayes converted on a two-yard plunge while Carey's scamper measured 20 yards. Richie Meyers and Matt Landry added integral offensive legwork for the Raiders.

Dolphins 33 - Redskins 0

Chris Long, John Shea, Matt Harris, Peter Daniels and Todd Harris all scored touchdowns. Harris, Long, Matt Marvin and Paul Allard added extra points.

Marvin's conversion was a fine stab of a Harris dart. Ryan Lynch, Matt Ragonese, Mark Lastrina, Jim Mingle, Matt Blake and Chris Corcoran were the Dolphin offensive horses.

Lamborghini 4 - Ferraris 3

The strong, biting wind played a very important part in this game. The Ferraris dominated the first half, starting with Tallis Sidebotham's tally, assisted by Michael Stein. Second-quarter action saw Jon Germain putting it in the net with the help of Patrick Sharkey. Sharkey slammed a high shot into the corner net after a great pass from Glen Aeder. Third quarter found the wind at the back of the Lamborghini as they tallied, beginning with a solo goal by Lyle Morgan. Good passing brought three more tallies by Andrew Hsu, assisted by Morgan, Morgan, assisted by Brad Batchelder, and the final goal by James Stratton, assisted by Ricky Crispo. BOW: Albie Giangregorio, Glen Aeder and Matt McCarthy (Ferraris) and Jacob Massod and Lee Baron (Lamborghini).

Maseratis 2 - Jaguars 1

Two well-matched teams battled as the Jaguars scored in the first quarter. Louis Capobianco evened the score in the second quarter. After a scoreless third quarter, Pat Walsh scored the deciding point for the Maseratis in the fourth quarter. BOW: Pat Russo, Jonthon Haskell and Joshua Murphy (Maseratis).

Porsches 1 - Thunderbirds 1

Battling a strong, cold wind, these two powerful teams left the first half scoreless. The Thunderbirds claimed the first tally from a penalty kick by Ryan Lisiak. But the Porsches' David Mazin put it in the net with an assist by Alex Dalis. Fourth quarter was scoreless as this hard-fought game ended in a tie. BOW: Alan Arntstein, Keith Robinson and Ricky Santogati (Porsches) and Damian Turco and Jeff Shea (Thunderbirds).

Mercedes 2 - Corvettes 1

Wild and windy weather made this game a challenge. All the tallies came in the first quarter. The Mercedes scored first, followed by their second goal by Jon Adams. Jason Nicholson put it in the net for the Corvettes. BOW: Richard Abelson, Chris Stamm and Scott Nicholson (Corvettes) and Tommy Boutureira and Kunal Patel (Mercedes).

Maseratis 5 - Corvettes 3

The Maseratis had tallies in the first half by Louis Copobianco, assisted by Bob Rygwalski, Woody Sankar, assisted by John Haskell, and Pat Walsh, assisted by Sankar. The Corvettes had tallies in the second and third quarters, but the Maseratis had two final third-quarter goals by Pat Russo, assisted by Mat Cole, and David Kelmer, assisted by Copobianco. BOW: Vivek Chennamsetty, Scott Kriz and Bob Rygwalski (Maseratis).

Nikes 3 - Reeboks 2

Reeboks' Ann Marie Hussey scored the first tally with an assist by Sarah Maddox, Emily Burritt put it in the net with the help of Lauren Ofria. The Nikes dominated the second half of the game as Katie McClune tallied with an assist by Kim Brewer. Katie Jurdi scored a goal with the help of Kelly Mitchell and Maura Paone made the deciding tally with an assist by Courtney Fitzsimmons. BOW: Allison Lowrie, Carolyn Tully and Andrea Wojtkun (Reeboks) and Kealy O'Connor, Jennifer Griffin and Katie McClune (Nikes).

Under 10 Division By Bob Nelken and Marcia Oyer

Blueberries 6 - Lemons 2

The Blueberries opened the scoring with goals by Jenny Prudden, Alexa Kokinos and Stephanie Banos, assisted by Hannah Pfeifle, Becky Colgate and Colby Carrier. Justine Salazar teamed with Lauren Hacker to put the Lemons on the board. Goals by Prudden, Banos and Colgate negated the final tally by Lemons' Samantha Witman, assisted by Michelle Crispo. BOW: Elizabeth Clinkenbeard (Lemons) and Kim McKew, Brooke Carrier and Meghan Pauley (Blueberries).

Watermelons 1 - Strawberries 0

The Watermelons' Vicki Pierce scored the game's only goal in the second quarter, assisted by Randi Spiegel. The Strawberries' tremendous offensive pressure was unable to penetrate the Watermelons' defense anchored by Tara Natella. BOW: Beth Lee, Susan Cookson and Amy Hayner (Strawberries) and Abby Woodroffe, Leah McDonald and Lindsay Corcoran (Watermelons).

Grapes 3 - Bananas 1

After a scoreless first quarter, the Grapes notched single unassisted goals from Beth Murphy, Jennifer Hartwell and Abby Harris. The Bananas could only score one goal. BOW: Kathryn Sarracino (Grapes).

Peaches 3 - Plums 1

The Plums scored the initial goal by Caitlin O'Connor, assisted by Erin Collins. A breakaway by Vanessa Blank tied the score. In the second half, Meghan Roth, assisted by Noelle Blank tallied the game winner before an insurance goal by Vanessa Blank. Meghan Lynch played well as goalie. BOW: Kaye Brady (Peaches) and Amy Henderson and Suzanne Leonard (Plums).

Rattlers 6 - Gators 5

Gators began this exciting match with a goal by Josh Mann, assisted by Scott Thompson. Rattlers' David Shaffer shot in two goals. Peter Bernarden kicked in one in the second period and Gators' Josh Mann and Jeff Thompson scored, assisted by Jason Belloredo, to tie the game at halftime. Jeff Isenberg sunk in two goals for the Rattlers with Adam Espinola assisting and Gators' Sean Corey and Josh Mann each scored a goal. David Shaffer kicked in the last goal in the fourth quarter to win the game for the Rattlers. BOW: Andrew Edge, Sean Corey and Chris Martin (Gators) and Michael Homewood and Karthik Venkatesh (Rattlers).

Longhorns 5 - Gorillas 1

Longhorns had early goals by Brian Lafranchi and Jamie Lachiana in the first quarter. Stalemate in the second was followed by two more goals by the Longhorns by Nicholas Johnston and Chris Everett. Gorillas' David Weiner kicked in a goal with an assist by Matt Mahoney and Lachiana put in a final goal for the Longhorns. BOW: Jonathan Aronson, Matt Stitham and Jay Canavan (Gorillas) and Aric Egmont and Nick Johnston (Longhorns).

Wolves 3 - Tigers 2

Wolves exerted strong pressure upon the Tigers during the scoreless first two periods, but Tigers' defensemen held them off until halftime. The Wolves' Tyler Volpe scored in the third quarter with assists from Matt Herling and Mike Garvin. Brian Tisbert kicked in two more in the fourth with help from Chris Johnson. Tigers rallied with a dramatic goal by Mark McGarry, assist to David Holmes, and another on a penalty kick by David Holmes. BOW: Dean Chiungos, Jason Pratt and Mike Burton (Tigers) and Peter Hill, Paul Sibelle and Jeff Scaia (Wolves).

Lions 5 - Bobcats 1

Lions' Andy MacDonald kicked in a goal with an assist by Jason DerAnanian and Tim Abbott scored, assisted by Andy. The second quarter was scoreless, but the Lions had a goal by Tim Abbott in the third quarter, two more by MacDonald and a goal by Ravi Tharisiyi, assisted by Geoffrey Bomba. Ryan Games scored the only goal for the Bobcats in the fourth period with an assist by Craig Hartwell. BOW: Adam Tober, Matt Gilmore (Bobcats) and Danny Rabinovitz, Keith MacWhorter (Lions).

Panthers 2 - Wildcats 1

After a scoreless first half featuring great defense by both teams, Panthers' Mark O'Sullivan kicked one in. Then Wildcat Roger Foltz evened the score, but O'Sullivan came back with another goal to win the game for his team. BOW: Jeffrey Bellistri, Mike Parziale, Greg Wojtkun (Wildcats) and Brian DeMartino and Vandan Gandhi (Panthers).

Badgers 4 - Mustangs 4

The Badgers' Sam Vaill scored in the first quarter. Mustangs' Aaron Bancroft, assisted by Nick Guild, shot one in over the goalie's head. Hugh Quattlebaum kicked in two for the Badgers in the third. The Mustangs had a goal by Scott Peterson, assisted by Charlie Nabhan, a goal by Bancroft, assisted by Mark Wood, and one more by Bancroft, on a penalty kick, all in the last quarter. BOW: Stephen Scarpulla, Donald Pattullo and Andrew Turco (Mustangs) and Mike Kelly and Mike Adams (Badgers).

Bears 6 - Bengals 3

Bengals and Bears waged a seesaw battle with Bengal Brendan Long scoring first, helped by Adam Tripi. Bears' Teddy Witman and Tod Wilson each put in a goal in the second quarter as Bear defensemen Matt Gauthier and Matthew Cox successfully deflected many assaults on their goal. The Bengals had goals by Teddy Crandall and Greg Carlson in the third and Tod Wilson and Eric Lambert scored for the Bears in the fourth. BOW: Matthew Murphy, Chris Ataide and Erich Birkley (Bengals) and Matthew Cox, Craig Davis and Matthew Gauthier (Bears).

Pythons 4 - Cobras 0

Pythons crushed the Cobras in a shutout despite valiant defense by the Cobras. Great passing by Nick Rauseo and Tony Belliveau to Tim Campbell resulted in his two goals during the second period and Matt Redmond and Sam Riotte each scored in the third period as Peter Ellis played terrific defense. BOW: Al Kown, Andy Baron and Brendan Murray (Cobras) and Peter Ellis, David McDonald and Eric Gropper (Pythons).

West Field Hockey Busy

By Amy Burnham

Last week the girls' field hockey team played four games and came away with one tie and three losses. The week started with West hosting Methuen in a game that saw Danielle Lynch scoring twice while Laurie Berryman and Shana Lynch notched one apiece. Goalie Melissa McCarty was very busy in the net.

The team headed for Masconomet next day and came away with a 1-1 tie on a score by inner Tina Colucci, her first of the season, assisted by Maureen Mitchell and Kerry Zaloga. Debra Flashenberg at fullback and Michelle Bailey at sweep led Andover's defense. Also receiving accolades were captains Grace Perry and Amy Burnham.

The team headed up the Merrimack Valley on Wednesday to visit Tyngsboro. The weather was threatening but held off for most of the game. Several girls landed on the disabled list. Andrea Biondo sprained a thumb and will be lost for the season. Maureen Mitchell suffered from back spasms and did not accompany the team. Midway through the 9-0 route goalie McCarty went down with a badly bruised forearm. Jennifer Enos was pressed into service and saw her first action as a goalie against the best team we have faced this year. Although it was a hard loss to take, The Tyngsboro parents and team made the trip memorable by hosting an apres game party with homemade bakery and fruit drinks. Most of the girls agreed they would love to play Tyngsboro more often.

Despite the tough week, the team did have Mr. Darrin, an algebra teacher at West Junior High School who hails from Hudson, N.H., rooting for them.

Coach Murphy and the Chelmsford girls visited Andover Thursday afternoon. West drew its biggest crowd of the year, led by West's number one fan, Bruce Burnham, who hasn't missed a game. Also on the sidelines rooting us on were Mary Streeter, Jean Belisle, Dorothy Burnham, Phyllis McCarty and one or more of the Perrys can be counted on at the home games. An unexpected spectator was School Committeeman Margo Tilghman and her son, Ben.

The game was one of our best and although we came up on the short end of a 1-0 score, everyone gave it 100 percent.

Maureen Mitchell suffered a severe sprain of several fingers and was out of the game when Chelmsford scored on a corner penalty in the second half.

Business Workshops Scheduled

A two-evening workshop, "Business Connections: Making Them, Keeping Them," is scheduled for Thursdays, Nov. 5 and 12, from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at the Andover Campus of Northern Essex Community College, located at Greater Lawrence Technical School, River Road.

The workshop is designed to help business people develop an informal plan for cultivating business contacts to promote their business, manage their career or pursue other personal goals.

"Most people realize contacts are important," says instructor October Clarke Graham, a marketing consultant who specializes in marketing ideas for small and medium-size businesses, "but very few actually think of them as a marketing tool that should be included in their marketing or career development plans. This workshop gives people an opportunity to create a specific plan for developing business contacts that will help them achieve their goals."

Those interested in the course should contact the continuing education division, Northern Essex Community College, Haverhill Campus.

Smoking Clinic

A "Fresh Start" four session, stop-smoking program will be offered at Lawrence General Hospital Nov. 5, 10, 12 and 17 from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. in the Russell-5 classroom.

An American Cancer Society program, Fresh Start focuses on understanding why people smoke, how to quit and mastering obstacles to quitting through behavior modification and relaxation techniques.

Preregistration is required. Call the LGH Education Department.

Doherty Boosts Record

The Doherty football team upped its record to 5 and 1 with a 28-0 victory over Methuen last Friday.

Halfback Mark Dodge scored two touchdowns which came on a punt return and a long run. Dave Blank scored on a long pass from quarterback Jeff Hurley who also scored on a two-yard run and threw a two-point conversion to split end Sean Spires. The defense was led by Scott Bernard, Stephan Fodor, Todd Allard, John Eckels and

Matt Daniels.

The offense totalled 375 yards while having two touchdowns called back due to penalties. Dodge led Doherty in scoring with 62 points, while Blank scored 50. Hurley is 21-42 passing with four touchdown passes and one interception. The Doherty offense has scored 144 points and the defense has given up 51 points in six games.

Carl Yazstremski won the batting title in the American League in 1967 with a .301 batting average.

J.V. Booters Win, 5-1

Andover 5 - North Andover 1

In the final game of the season, the Andover J.V. boys' soccer team played a strong game against a determined North Andover team. North Andover scored first and Andover answered quickly with an unassisted goal by Dave Wager. A well-played first half ended with the score tied 1-1.

Andover dominated the second half as Scott Clementi scored a hat trick. His first goal was unassisted, the second was off a nice centering pass from John Mattola and his final goal came off a nice assist from Fred Hohn. Marc Selvitelli scored the final goal of the game, assisted by Reed Newton.

The boys finished with an undefeated season and a record of 15-0-1, outscoring their opposition by a 6-1 average. Goalie Mike Sintros allowed less than one goal per game and registered five shutouts. The team owes this successful season to their coach, Mike Wartman, who spent many weeks coaching and encouraging them.

Saturday Hoop Clinics Set At Lowell

Lowell High Varsity Basketball Coach Charlie Ryan once again is running his highly successful "Super Saturday Clinics" at the Kiddick Fieldhouse November 7, 14 and 21.

"We believe it's the only fall basketball camp in New England," said Ryan, whose LHS varsity teams have dominated the Merrimack Valley conference and won two Eastern Mass. Division I North championships in recent years.

"It will give participants a definite edge in regards to making their (school or youth league) team. It's a readiness program that's unmatched in this area."

There are still openings, but enrollment is limited and interested youngsters should apply as early as possible.

All boys ages 9-17 are eligible. Each session will run from 8:45 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The school philosophy is to teach the fundamental skills of basketball," said Ryan. "We'll have individual instruction, skill stations, rules interpretations and player evaluations."

There will also be free t-shirts, a 3-on-3 tournament, a 1-on-1 tournament, foul shooting contest and clinic-ending awards ceremony.

Ryan is the director and the staff includes Lowell High assistants Dennis Canney and Mike Crowley and several college and high school coaches from the area.

Lecturers will include current Celtic Jerry Sichting, former Celtic M.L. Carr, former Lowell High and Texas Christian star Tracy Mitchell, Merrimack College Coach Bert Hammell and Andover High Varsity Coach Tom Ryser.

Registration forms may be obtained by contacting Ryan at his home, 4 Cindy Lane, Andover.

Marching Band

the last 10 years, "The president's band has never won the competition in any of the four divisions—not even when they've been in a good position to win."

The first place was also a "first" for Keroack's drill designer, Bob Mulvanity. This year, Mulvanity coached two bands in the contest, Andover and North Reading. North Reading, which took first place in Division 1 last year over Andover by a slim .7 point tally, won this year's Division 2 class.

In addition to Mulvanity, Keroack's staff includes Assistant Director Mark Snachez, marching coach Brian Dollard, percussion leaders Peter Funari and Dana Atwood and color guard instructor Rich Rigolini. Student drum majors are Steve DeVoir and Kim O'Neill; color guard captain is Sue Mirisola.

The band has swept its division at all four of its pre-finals seasonal meets this year, winning first place at each and taking top honors in all categories. They have competed with a repertory of four songs—"Don't Rain on My Parade," "Johnny One Note" (with a vocal solo by Trish Squibb), "Oye Como Va" (percussion solo) and the medley "Ladies Who Lunch/Pretty Women." Each number includes a marching routine, complete with choreographed color guard, and is directed on the field by one of the student drum majors.

Stamp Show

The New England Stamp Dealers' Association will hold its annual show November 7 and 8 at the Westboro Marriott Hotel and will feature one of the nationally publicized "CIA Invert" stamps for sale. This stamp, a picture of a wrought iron candlestick printed upside-down, is so named because a sheet of 100 stamps was purchased by the CIA where an employee who was a stamp collector identified them as likely collectors' items. The stamps were substituted, concealed and eventually sold by the CIA employees.

The story was first publicized in Linn's Stamp News, a weekly newspaper for stamp collectors, and later in Time Magazine and daily newspapers.

According to a report from the Bureau of Printing and Engraving, five of the original stamps were used on agency mail before the discovery was made. Time Magazine reported 85 of the $1 stamps were then sold by the nine employees involved, one was destroyed and the nine are thought to be in the hands of the employees, although they insist the stamps were used on agency mail.

Hazardous

believed IEP was "a reputable company," the engineer replied "I have not run into circumstances where their reputation has been challenged."

Members of the Ballardvale Village Improvement Society (BVIS), a neighborhood coalition that opposes the project, were upset both with Glick's line of questioning and with the ZBA's decision to terminate public discussion.

"We would have liked to have had more time to discuss issues like traffic impact, project density and the hazardous waste" stated BVIS member Jack Henry. "Glick feels if he filibusters long enough, we won't get a chance to rebut him."

Sharen Heller, head of BVIS, said she was surprised the board ended the public hearing. "I thought, 'what happened.' I figured they would require more testing and then there would be another public hearing after to tell us what was done."

Heller produced a newspaper clipping from January, 1914, indicating the presence of creosote, a coal tar derivative, on the land now being considered for Ballard View. The developers contend no coal tar residue is present at the site.

"It would be interesting to see what is located eight to ten feet below the surface," remarked Henry.

Whitney said the board would review all data concerning hazardous materials as part of the ZBA's deliberation. The ZBA has 40 days to render a decision whether to approve the comprehensive permit application, at which time a meeting will be called to announce the board's ruling.

Prepare Car For Winter

Old and weak batteries are the most common sources of car trouble during the winter says AAA. A low antifreeze level is another problem frequently overlooked by motorists.

Here's a checklist to follow to prepare for winter driving:

Battery. If it's three years old or older have it checked for power and condition. Make sure battery terminals and cables are free of corrosion.

Antifreeze. Have it tested for at least 20 degrees below zero. If the liquid in the radiator is cloudy, have it flushed and the fluid replaced. The recommended mixture is half antifreeze, half water. Have the engine thermostat checked, too.

Hoses. Replace the radiator and heater hoses every four years. Check to see if any look cracked or feel mushy.

Engine oil. Follow the advice in the owner's manual.

Tune-up. Keep the engine tuned. An engine that is out of tune might not start on that first cold morning.

Windshield washer. Top it off with an antifreeze-type solution.

Windshield wiper blades. Install soft rubber blades since they help prevent ice and slush build-up.

Tires. AAA recommends all-season or snow tires for winter use.

Thursday, and chose three finalists based on those interviews.

The 13-member screening committee was comprised of parents, teachers and administrators who reviewed resumes of all candidates who applied before the October 15 deadline.

The finalists have been chosen from an original pool of 26 candidates. Hixon was the only one of the seven semi-finalists to come from within the Andover school system.

Kenneth Seifert, superintendent of schools, met with the three final candidates on Monday. Seifert said a final selection would be made on or about November 19.

Stephen Richardson has been serving as acting high school principal since Mary Jennings resigned on July 14 to accept the headmaster's post at Brookline High School.

Gershwin

all been waiting for—Mel Torme.

The audience cheered when he walked on and whipped into "Oh, Lady Be Good!" ending with his trademark scatting—a cappella. Torme can scat his way through a song like it was written that way.

"Listen closely," he told the audience, "and you will understand every word."

Torme, 62, has been performing most of his life. The multi-talented singer is also a conductor and drummer, roles he played during last Thursday's concert. At age 21, he signed with Musicraft Records and has sung his heart out in concert halls, in recording studios, on television.

"But you know, he's still got control of his voice," said Bill Maren, head of The Victor Co. Inc., which sponsored the concert. "One thing that's helped him has been that Night Court show, but he's been great for years."

The Victor Co. has sponsored Collins Center events since it was started five years ago. Last year, they brought violinist Itzhak Perlman for a fundraiser.

"I really love music," explained Maren's wife, Bunny, who co-owns Victor. "All kinds of music—everything from jazz to the Beatles to opera. We're very eclectic in our tastes."

Mrs. Maren is one of the directors of the Andover Endowment for the Arts, which oversees the management of the Collins Center. This year, the center's fifth anniversary season, the Marens wanted to bring something special to Andover. "We like Mel Torme a lot," she said. "And we wanted to bring someone who wouldn't be able to come without a corporate sponsor."

The Great Gershwin Concert happened to be available, and that's how the Marens picked it.

The advantage of being a corporate sponsor is that sometimes you get to meet the stars. Before introducing the show, Bill and Bunny Maren chatted briefly with Torme backstage.

"Every time I get photographed," Mr. Maren said, "it's always with very lean guys, and I look terrible."

"You don't have to worry about that with me," replied Torme, patting his stomach.

"He's one of the nicest people I've ever met in my life," Maren said afterward. "If you didn't know he was one of the performers, you'd think he was from downtown Andover."

Torme himself, still jacketless minutes before the show, was unfazed by all the attention. You'd never know he was the same audience charmer who would be on the stage in a little while. He doesn't get nervous, he said, and he's still not sick of performing.

"If I didn't love it, I'd stop."

Open Meeting Law Discussed At Forum

By Lewis C. Howe

Last month the Andover League of Women Voters claimed the Planning Board violated the state's Open Meeting Law by allegedly not posting meetings of its subcommittees. While no formal charges were filed, the incident did raise questions as to what the Open Meeting Law requires from local governments.

At a workshop on the "Open Meeting Law Agenda" held last Friday in Beverly, Essex County Assistant District Attorney Robert Bender presented an overview of the statute in an attempt to eliminate any confusion over what municipal governments must do.

"Pretty much everything has to be posted," commented Andover selectman Gail Ralston, who attended the workshop. Bender said in his presentation that while an overview of the law doesn't cover every instance, but "a little knowledge is better than none at all."

The Open Meeting Law states "all meetings of a governmental body shall be open to the public...no quorum of a governmental body shall meet in private for the purpose of deciding on or deliberating toward a decision." Further, the law mandates that "accurate records of (board) meetings" must be maintained.

Certain exceptions exist, such as executive sessions. A governmental body may adjourn to executive session provided the announcement of purpose and roll call vote is made during an open session. An executive session may be lawfully convened for several reasons.

Redskins

Redskins' offensive stars were Adam McHale, Adam Cohen, Nate Roberts and Ian Timmons, Mike Trombly boomed a 40-yard punt. Their defense was led by Adam Gray, who made 10 tackles. Sal Denaro, Eric Thompson and Cam Arnott also stood out.

AHPC

opment.

The selectmen refused to forward the AHPC's position on Brookside to the state last month because board members feared conditional approval of 150 units by the town would hinder the ZBA's negotiating position. "It was a matter of numbers" commented selectman Gail Ralston. "We would have passed it without the numbers stipulation."

Ralston said she was "surprised" at AHPC Chairman Carl Byers' statements that he would consider "disbanding" his committee if the selectmen continued to refuse to forward AHPC opinions to the state. "He doesn't have the power to do that," Ralston stated, adding she would discuss the issue with Byers in order to create better communication between the selectmen and the committee.

Colyer said it will also be interesting to see how heavily the state considers local opposition to the four proposals turned down by the AHPC. "There is a perception at the state that all previous applications submitted before the local committees were formed are grandfathered in," he commented. If so, a town position against the proposals may be irrelevant.

A board may meet privately in order to protect the personal reputation or character (not professional competence) of an individual, to consider discipline or dismissal of an individual, to discuss collective bargaining or negotiations, to deploy security personnel, to negotiate real estate transactions, to comply with other laws or to consider and interview job applicants at the preliminary level. Executive sessions should only occur if it is determined that an open session would have a detrimental effect on the governing process.

The League of Women Voters' complaint to Bender centered on posting of announcements for board meetings. The Open Meeting Law states notice for all meetings—town boards, committees, or subcommittees—must be filed with the town clerk's office 48 hours prior to the meeting (not including Sundays and Holidays). These notices must be posted on "the clerk's or other official city or town bulletin board."

The planning staff and planning board have said they complied with all regulations, and planning board chairman Michael Houghton urged the League of Women Voters to stop "badgering" public officials.

In her letter to the local League membership this week, Andover chapter President Jean Salazar remarked "our aim is...to see that whatever decision is reached by government is arrived at through an open democratic process. Judging from the strong wording in his letter, the District Attorney agrees with us."

Street Rezoning Will Be Subject Of Hearing

By Lewis C. Howe

Residents will have a chance to air their views on the proposed rezoning of several town streets at an Industrial Review forum to be held November 17 at the West Junior High auditorium.

The Planning Board Tuesday night reviewed town planner Laura Hill's proposals for the creation of two new zoning districts that would encourage limited business development along both Andover St. and Lupine Road, and allow mixed-use commercial and multi-family housing developments in the downtown area near Shawsheen Plaza and Stevens St.

The proposed Limited Business District (LBD) would require a 100-foot street frontage for new construction—twice the frontage needed in the Industrial D zone that presently covers that portion of Andover St. Buildings in the LBD would have a height limit of 35 feet and could not exceed three stories, which is the same requirement for residential zones.

Parking areas in the district would require a five-foot buffer zone if the development abuts a residence, Hill said, and ten-foot setbacks are required on all sides under the proposed rezoning.

Hill emphasized the setback requirements resulted from a desire "not to have strip development" along the narrow lots on Andover St. Michael Houghton, Planning Board chairman, said the setback and height limits were "not too restrictive," but questioned how one could justify a 100-foot frontage.

"People could say, 'well, the Industrial D zone is the most restrictive and that's only a 50-foot frontage,' so how come you have a 100-foot frontage for this?" Houghton added he was concerned the stipulation would have trouble passing at next year's spring town meeting, when all the proposed zoning changes will be presented.

The Limited Business District would allow retail stores, recreation facilities, offices, restaurants, funeral homes, banks, and building supply warehouses. Hotels, gas stations, car repair shops and industrial uses would not be permitted in the zone.

Board member Russ Moran commented "we don't want to force gas stations or auto shops out of town, but the new district will be viewed on the basis of what these places will replace." Moran said the regulations were "sensitive to the needs of the abutters."

Hill raised a tangential point on the subject of "uses," asking the town to come up with a definition and use for convenience stores. "It's time to add that to the list," she commented, saying a host of Honey Farms' and a crock full of Christy's could sneak into the neighborhood under ambiguously defined "uses" such as retail or 'personal and consumer services.'

"The bylaw is too weak to prevent an influx of convenience stores right now," Hill cautioned. Town planner Nancy Jeton echoed this, saying "not just the chains, but also private entrepreneurs come to our office with convenience store proposals." No action was taken on the suggestion.

The Mixed Use District proposal would encompass the Shawsheen Plaza, Stevens St. and Railroad Ave. and the single residence A zone along North Main St. Jeton suggested adding the lower portion of Essex St. to the district, which is being considered by the board.

The new zoning would prohibit fast food restaurants and hotels, which are currently allowed under Industrial-General (IG) zoning in the area. Auto dealerships and car washes would also be banned from the proposed district.

The Mixed Use zone would provide for multi-family housing, either through conversion (with the approval of the board of appeals) or through planned development by the planning board. Neither of these provisions are allowed under the present IG setup.

"The purpose of the Mixed Use district is to encourage more mixed-use commercial and office development, as well

Planners Retain Bond Money

By Lewis C. Howe

Developer Arthur Kalogianis has failed to finish landscaping and road work for his Olympic Village III subdivision, and on Monday night it cost him.

After hearing from several disgruntled and dissatisfied Olympic Village residents, the Planning Board voted 4-1 to retain $62,195 of a $120,330 town bond slated for Kalogianis' pockets upon completion of the development.

"We are holding the money to make sure that the work is done," stated Michael Houghton, board Chairman. The developer did receive the remaining $58,135 of the bond, which board member Carl Byers said "he earned for doing the work."

Byers placated the dozen or so residents who showed up with their complaints by saying "we are withholding a substantial amount of money here. We are not giving away the store" to Kalogianis.

As of October 1, a department of public works (DPW) report showed most water, roadway, drainage, sewer boundary and utility obligations had been met for the four streets comprising the subdivision—Laconia Drive, Messinia Drive, Sparta Way and Odyssey Way.

John Kolackovsky, 11 Odyssey Way, told the board his primary concern was over a "large mound on his cul-de-sac that makes it impossible to see a small child" while traversing the street. Steve Colyer, town physical planner, pledged to "have the mound leveled" before it interferes with winter snow plowing.

Debra Saryan of 8 Odyssey Way complained "Sparta Way is not even finished yet," and added many of the cul-de-sacs "are in really bad shape." Part of the problem, she said, is the lack of landscaping in the area. Kolackovsky suggested "maybe you should plant trees or something."

Colyer pointed out regulations call for two trees per lot in a subdivision, and he agreed "a lot of things need to be done for dress-up purposes" at Olympic III.

Ray Loyko, 17 Messinia Drive, expressed "frustration" in dealing with Kalogianis on matters of landscaping and drainage. "Last year, water conjugated in my driveway all winter," he said. "The final coat of paving (for the cul-de-sac) is in, and the water is still there. Last winter my driveway was a sheet of ice, and I'm afraid it will be again."

As far as aesthetically upgrading the site, he continued, "(the developer) put in seeding, but it just didn't take." Eventually, he recalled, residents "chipped in to landscape it ourselves."

Frank Klein, 2 Messinia Drive, asked that curbs be installed to control storm water runoff, and Houghton directed the planning staff to "take a look at the drainage" situation on that street.

Kalogianis sat silently throughout the hearing, only responding when Donna Loyko asked him whether she lived on "Messina Drive" or "Messinia Drive," as "the street sign is spelled wrong and we're not sure which is correct."

"In english, it's 'Messina,'" Kalogianis quipped, "and in greek, it's 'Messinia.'"

After hearing opinions from all parties, Houghton motioned to retain partial bonding for the subdivision. Board member Russ Moran cast the dissenting vote, saying "there are still issues of drainage I'd like to see resolved" before releasing any funds to the developer.

The Planning Board also reviewed a site plan by Merrimack College which calls for the construction of two dormitories on the Andover side of the school's campus. The three-story buildings would house a total of 152 students in 36 "apartment" units containing four students each, as well as four two-student units.

The revised site plan allows for greater fire department access and a looped 8-inch water main to increase student safety. Both changes were requested by the fire department, and town planner Nancy Jeton commented "the college was very responsive" to the town's suggested improvements.

The new dorms would not encroach on wetlands at the site, college officials said. Construction is expected to take place next summer for occupancy in September 1988. The Planning Board accepted the site plan contingent upon conservation commission approval.

In other business, the board voted unanimously to approve a definitive subdivision plan for "Bakers Meadow Estates." The plans call for five lots to be constructed off Argilla Road near the site of the proposed Abbot's Pond comprehensive permit.

Because today the average resale price of a 1986 944 is, indeed, 100.3%.

Or, to put it another way: after two years, the 944 is actually worth a bit more than it cost originally.

Pretty good for a car designed not to be pampered by its owner, but to be driven to the very limits of its capabilities.

If you're in the market for a high-performance sports car, get down to PARK PORSCHE.

And don't buy a car. Invest in one said. "It's a chance for the kids to see ahead to how well they work with adults and children."

Parsons added service programs mean much more than a resume item. "Call it job training. Call it career exploration. It's learning how to grow up in a democracy."

"I have this theory that as adults, we demand certain values, but we don't enforce them," Phillips said. "We say that good grades are important, but we forget about caring and the meaning of people. They (school children) don't get that training. They kind of have to learn it on their own to get a well-rounded education."

SerVermont encourages schools to set up a specific project for the year. They might say: "This year, our project as a school is this—greening up, for instance," Parsons said.

But does it have to be exclusively up to the schools to encourage kids to volunteer their time? Not according to Parsons.

"It could also be up to the kids, up to the parents. It certainly could be initiated by people who need the service," she said.

The program at Hudson High School is student-run, according to director Phillips. Of the eight school programs Harrison visited for his Carnegie Foundation report, the one in Hudson was the only one run by students. It started in the fall of 1983, Phillips said, with a little bit of

"Even at minimum wage, that's quite a lot of money," she said. "But they do it for free."

"The students there were enthusiastic," Harrison added. "They'd been touched by a new awareness. One student who worked in a nursing home said he'd go back again on his own."

Harrison's report was the direct result of High School, a controversial book by Ernest L. Boyer, president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, who wrote that students should form volunteer community service programs. Harrison was chosen to do a more in-depth study on that particular aspect of Boyer's book. Harrison ended up at eight programs while trying to find out what made them tick.

He concluded by saying that "the American people and American educators should agree that a community service program is a particularly constructive way to satisfy public education's most vital and sacred mission: to prepare young people to become the kinds of adult citizens the nation can rely on..."

"Our educational system is essentially self-serving," Harrison said Friday. "From age 5 to 21 or 25, we're there to learn skills to prepare for our careers. (Community service programs) is going to turn for a little bit at least to other people. It's not the money, it's not a reward. You couldn't buy the feeling inside; you couldn't get it elsewhere."

Coordinated by the Community Service Network of New England, which Gross leads, the conference was sponsored by PA, the Kennedy Library, the Massachusetts Department of Education and the Thomas Jefferson Forum.

Manager Marilyn E. French of Foster & Foster Realtors: Lee Dodd Division,
Foster & Foster Realtors: Lee Dodd Division

Marilyn E. French GRI, CRS, CRB, is the new manager of Foster & Foster Realtors at 68 Park Street in Andover. Having spent over eighteen years in the Concord/Acton area as a broker, Marilyn felt it was the correct time to not only change location, but to move forward to a managerial position, where she could benefit new brokers through her years of knowledge and expertise.

Marilyn found many similarities between Concord and Andover and immediately knew that she would be comfortable working in this area. She has served on the Education Committee of Foster & Foster, was Massachusetts State President of the Women's Council of Realtors and Director and President of Concord Council of the Greater Boston Real Estate Board.

Foster & Foster is a full service real estate office with 18 offices serving eastern Massachusetts and southern New Hampshire. They have their own mortgage company known as Residential Mortgage Services, with Jim Feinberg as the mortgage officer of the Andover office. Jim is also an agent with Allard Insurance, a full service, independent insurance agency which is a division of Foster & Foster. These services provide home buyers with the opportunity to take care of all their home buying needs at one location.

Marilyn also stresses the fact that her staff of agents are kept up-to-date on changing market trends, new financing alternatives and any new legislation affecting the real estate industry, through monthly in-house training sessions.

So, whether your buying or selling real estate, call Foster & Foster: Lee Dodd Division at 475-8543. Their reputation is built on excellence, knowledge and professional service.

Park Porsche & Audi, Inc.: Invest in Excellence

Park Porsche & Audi, Inc., 222 Lowell St., Lawrence is where you can view the classic Porsche 911, six-cylinder sportscar. It offers sophistication and efficiency plus a choice of three body styles with a normally aspirated engine and six body styles with the 911 turbocharged engine. It is available as a classic Coupe, original Targa with its lift-out roof panel, or the open-air Cabriolet convertible.

No matter what body style, the heart of the 911 is the efficient, reliable 3.2 litre, flat-six, fuel-injected, air-cooled engine. The engine is matched with a five-speed transmission and hydraulically operated clutch designed to effortlessly handle the engine's responsive 214 hp. Feel the power as you sprint from 0 to 60 mph in 6.1 seconds and reach a top track speed of 149 mph.

All three normally aspirated models feature air conditioning, partial leather seats, central locking systems, Blaupunkt's Charleston AM/FM digital stereo cassette with four speakers and antenna amplifier, power windows, heated outside mirrors, tinted glass all around, graduated tint windshield washer nozzles, leather covered steering wheel and reclining seats with electrical height adjustment.

Every Porsche 911 is covered by the industry's only transferable, 10 year limited rust perforation warranty.

The Park Porsche & Audi showroom is open Mon-Thurs, 8:30 to 8; Fri, 8:30 to 7; and Sat, 9-4. Telephone 686-9743. Olga Jenkins-Price

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Stephen J. DeCrosta to Champy Construction Company, Inc. dated December 30, 1986 and recorded in the Essex County (Northern District) Registry of Deeds in Book 2396, Page 96 and assigned to Rose Champy and Sylvia Champy on December 30, 1986 and which assignment is recorded with said Essex County (Northern District) Registry of Deeds, Book 2396, Page 100, of which mortgage the undersigned is the assignee and present holder, for breach of conditions contained in said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing, the same will be sold at PUBLIC AUCTION ON THE PREMISES NUMBERED APPROXIMATELY 120 HAVERHILL STREET, ANDOVER, MASSACHUSETTS, ON TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1987 at TWO O'CLOCK P.M., all and singular the premises described in said mortgage, to wit:

The land in Andover and Lawrence, Essex County, Massachusetts, described as follows:

The land partly in Andover and partly in Lawrence, as depicted on Plan No. 7154, entitled, "Plan of Land in Andover and Lawrence, Mass., surveyed for: Champy Construction Company of Lawrence, Massachusetts, dated October, 1974." Containing 76.595 acres, more or less, and to which plan reference may be had for a more particular description.

Excepting therefrom however, 10.25 acres, more or less of said parcel or parcels conveyed to Richard O'Hara, Trustee of Physician's Building Associates, Nominee Trust, by deed dated October 18, 1972, recorded with said Registry of Deeds, Book 1204, Page 625. See Plan No. 6703 of the North Essex Registry of Deeds.

And excepting therefrom however, 5.69 acres, more or less of said parcel or parcels conveyed to Joseph R. Rokous and Richard A. Katz, Trustees of Doctor's Park Associates, Nominee Trust, by deed dated October 6, 1982, recorded with said Registry of Deeds, Book 1610, Page 217. See Plan of Land in Andover, Mass., County of Essex for Physician's Building Associates, Nominee Trust, Joseph R. Rokous, Trustee, by Cammett and Kutensky Engineering, Inc., dated September, 1982, consisting of two (2) pages which plan is recorded with said Registry as Plan No. 8987.

This conveyance is made subject to and with the benefit of all easements, covenants and restrictions of record.

Being the same or part of the premises conveyed to Champy Construction Company, Inc., by the following grantors: Deed of Andover Shawshen Realty Company, dated January 7, 1959, recorded at Book 886, Page 385 of said Registry; Deed of Andover Shawshen Realty Company dated December 31, 1959, recorded at Book 908, Page 359 of said Registry; Deed of Boston and Maine Railroad, dated June 13, 1960, recorded at Book 916, Page 416 of said Registry; Deed of Helen M. Driscoll, et al, dated April 15, 1970, recorded in said Registry at Book 1154, Page 3.

Said premises will be conveyed subject to any and all unpaid taxes and other municipal assessments and liens, and subject to prior liens and other enforceable encumbrances of record entitled to precedence over said mortgage.

One hundred fifty thousand ($150,000.00) Dollars will be required to be paid in cash or certified check or bank treasurer's check by the purchaser at the time and place of the sale. The balance is to be paid in cash or by certified check or bank treasurer's check at the office of Eaton & Chandler, P.C., 234 Essex Street, Lawrence, Mass., within twenty (20) days from the date of the sale.

Other terms will be announced at the sale.

Special Ed Program In Need Of Better Staffing

By Lewis C. Howe

Special Education (SPED) programs in Andover should hire more support staff and should be better integrated with regular school curriculum, according to a report released in October by the school department's Chapter 766 Study Committee.

"Staffing shortages, space, scheduling and communication problems plague the system," the report reads. "The lack of time to do a job well is an overwhelming concern of the staff."

The 14-member panel has recommended the hiring of additional support staff for the special-needs programs, including permanent substitute teachers. "A lack of qualified substitute teachers exists," the report states. The study goes on to say a "lack of sufficient staff" results in delays in services, poor scheduling of programs, lack of flexibility in class size and inability to accommodate students who enter the program at mid-year.

Problems also exist with grading methods for mainstream students in special education classes, inadequate facilities and heavy doses of paperwork, which the report termed a "major frustration to the staff."

To alleviate these conditions, the committee suggested either scheduling time for paperwork, lowering teacher/student ratios, or establishing a liaison in each school to handle the task.

Space for special education classes should be "planned, not found," the study said. Teachers and parents responding to a survey distributed by the committee had complained of problems with ventilation, heat, lighting, space and location of programs, conditions which the report labeled "unsatisfactory."

The study also urged greater parental involvement with the SPED program, and asked the schools to "create opportunities for parent-to-parent communication and support."

Within the school, the 766 committee suggested having "regular education teachers team teach with SPED teachers," and to have regular teachers observe closely the SPED system. The report also calls for the development of "programs to sensitize regular education students and staff to Special Needs."

Despite the drawbacks to the present special needs program, 84 percent of 136 parents who responded to the committee's survey indicated they were "satisfied with the child's progress" in the SPED program. Parents also had praise for the "cooperative and dedicated staff" and the "individual attention shown to students" within the program.

Parents were split concerning the quality of communication between themselves and the staff, while a primary concern of the 66 teachers who responded was a sense of "isolation" from the mainstream of the school.

Mary French, a member of the Chapter 766 committee, said she expected the school committee to consider the report's findings at a future work session. French also cited school committee member Margo Tilghman, who "really took this over as chairman" when she joined the school committee last year.

In their summary remarks, the 766 committee wrote, "it is our hope that Special Education will be seen as an integral and equal component of the overall Andover educational program." The group expressed hope that the school committee "will take this information and begin to provide those tools needed to improve the Special Education program, making it an equal member of our educational system."

Andover's 766 program serves 789 students, at a per-pupil cost of $12,204 annually. An 89-member system-wide staff instructs special needs children in speech, counseling, language, math and adaptive physical education.

Peg and Kathy Gorham of Gorham Decorating Center

The holidays are just around the corner and now is the time to get your house in order. All the cleaning in the world won't put the color back in the drapes, nor solve the problem of chipped paint and dreary wall paper.

So, before the entertaining season gets into full swing, visit Gorham Decorating Center at 581 Chickering Road, North Andover. They have the products, services and expertise to make the interior of your home, the envy of all.

Peg Gorham's daughter Kathy, joined the staff this past summer and has brought with her a special talent for putting color and texture together to create a new dimension in the art of decorating. She is a graduate of Roger Williams College in Rhode Island and holds a degree in art.

Another change that took place over the summer months, was a sectioning off of the Decorating Center from the hardware supplies of the Gorham complex. Within the Center, you will find custom drapes, bedspreads, woven woods, mini-blinds, pleated sheers, swags, table covers, pillows, window seats, ceramic tiles and solid brass rods and accessories, imported from Germany.

The newest service to Gorham's is re-upholstering, along with a wide variety of new upholstery fabrics.

"There's a lot of personal service offered here," said Peg. "We work with you to develop a color system to fit your personality and the personality of the house."

For a small fee, Gorham Decorating Center will send a representative to your home to consult with you and offer suggestions for a decorating plan. Call 685-4870 for an appointment and further information. Open M-W-Th-F, 9-5; Tues 9-9; Sat, 9-5.

Under 12 Division By Dori Mottola

Lamborghini 4 - Ferraris 3

The strong, biting wind played a very important part in this game. The Ferraris dominated the first half, starting with Tallis Sidebotham's tally, assisted by Michael Stein. Second-quarter action saw Jon Germain putting it in the net with the help of Patrick Sharkey. Sharkey slammed a high shot into the corner net after a great pass from Glen Aeder. Third quarter found the wind at the back of the Lamborghini as they tallied, beginning with a solo goal by Lyle Morgan. Good passing brought three more tallies by Andrew Hsu, assisted by Morgan. Morgan, assisted by Brad Batchelder, and the final goal by James Stratton, assisted by Ricky Crispo. BOW: Albie Giangregorio, Glen Aeder and Matt McCarthy (Ferraris) and Jacob Massod and Lee Baron (Lamborghini).

Maseratis 2 - Jaguars 1

Two well-matched teams battled as the Jaguars scored in the first quarter. Louis Capobianco evened the score in the second quarter. After a scoreless third quarter, Pat Walsh scored the deciding point for the Maseratis in the fourth quarter. BOW: Pat Russo, Jonthon Haskell and Joshua Murphy (Maseratis).

Porsches 1 - Thunderbirds 1

Battling a strong, cold wind, these two powerful teams left the first half scoreless. The Thunderbirds claimed the first tally from a penalty kick by Ryan Lisiak. But the Porsches' David Mazin put it in the net with an assist by Alex Dalis. Fourth quarter was scoreless as this hard-fought game ended in a tie. BOW: Alan Arntstein, Keith Robinson and Ricky Santogati (Porsches) and Damian Turco and Jeff Shea (Thunderbirds).

Mercedes 2 - Corvettes 1

Wild and windy weather made this game a challenge. All the tallies came in the first quarter. The Mercedes scored first, followed by their second goal by Jon Adams. Jason Nicholson put it in the net for the Corvettes. BOW: Richard Abelson, Chris Stamm and Scott Nicholson (Corvettes) and Tommy Boutureira and Kushal Patel (Mercedes).

West Field Hockey Busy

By Amy Burnham

Last week the girls' field hockey team played four games and came away with one tie and three losses. The week started with West hosting Methuen in a game that saw Danielle Lynch scoring twice while Laurie Berryman and Shana Lynch notched one apiece. Goalie Melissa McCarty was very busy in the net.

The team headed for Masconomet next day and came away with a 1-1 tie on a score by inner Tina Colucci, her first of the season, assisted by Maureen Mitchell and Kerry Zaloga. Debra Flashenberg at fullback and Michelle Bailey at sweep led Andover's defense. Also receiving accolades were captains Grace Perry and Amy Burnham.

The team headed up the Merrimack Valley on Wednesday to visit Tyngsboro. The weather was threatening but held off for most of the game. Several girls landed on the disabled list. Andrea Biondo sprained a thumb and will be lost for the season. Maureen Mitchell suffered from back spasms and did not accompany the team. Midway through the 9-0 route goal- ie McCarty went down with a badly bruised forearm. Jennifer Enos was pressed into service and saw her first action as a goalie against the best team we have faced this year. Although it was a hard loss to take, The Tyngsboro parents and team made the trip memorable by hosting an apres game party with homemade bakery and fruit drinks. Most of the girls agreed they would love to play Tyngsboro more often.

Despite the tough week, the team did have Mr. Darrin, an algebra teacher at West Junior High School who hails from Hudson, N.H., rooting for them.

Coach Murphy and the Chelmsford girls visited Andover Thursday afternoon. West drew its biggest crowd of the year, led by West's number one fan, Bruce Burnham, who hasn't missed a game. Also on the sidelines rooting us on were Mary Streeter, Jean Belisle, Dorothy Burnham, Phyllis McCarty and one or more of the Perrys can be counted on at the home games. An unexpected spectator was School Committeeman Margo Tilghman and her son, Ben.

The game was one of our best and although we came up on the short end of a 1-0 score, everyone gave it 100 percent.

Maureen Mitchell suffered a severe sprain of several fingers and was out of the game when Chelmsford scored on a corner penalty in the second half.

Business Workshops Scheduled

A two-evening workshop, "Business Connections: Making Them, Keeping Them," is scheduled for Thursdays, Nov. 5 and 12, from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at the Andover Campus of Northern Essex Community College, located at Greater Lawrence Technical School, River Road.

The workshop is designed to help business people develop an informal plan for cultivating business contacts to promote their business, manage their career or pursue other personal goals.

"Most people realize contacts are important," says instructor October Clarke Graham, a marketing consultant who specializes in marketing ideas for small and medium-size businesses, "but very few actually think of them as a marketing tool that should be included in their marketing or career development plans. This workshop gives people an opportunity to create a specific plan for developing business contacts that will help them achieve their goals."

Those interested in the course should contact the continuing education division, Northern Essex Community College, Haverhill Campus.

Smoking Clinic

A "Fresh Start" four session, stop-smoking program will be offered at Lawrence General Hospital Nov. 5, 10, 12 and 17 from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. in the Russell-5 classroom.

An American Cancer Society program, Fresh Start focuses on understanding why people smoke, how to quit and mastering obstacles to quitting through behavior modification and relaxation techniques.

Preregistration is required. Call the LCH Education Department.

 Thank You!

Doherty Boosts Record

The Doherty football team upped its record to 5 and 1 with a 28-0 victory over Methuen last Friday.

Halfback Mark Dodge scored two touchdowns which came on a punt return and a long run. Dave Blank scored on a long pass from quarterback Jeff Hurley who also scored on a two-yard run and threw a two-point conversion to split end Sean Spires. The defense was led by Scott Bernard, Stephan Fodor, Todd Allard, John Eckels and

Matt Daniels.

The offense totalled 375 yards while having two touchdowns called back due to penalties. Dodge led Doherty in scoring with 62 points, while Blank scored 50. Hurley is 21-42 passing with four touchdown passes and one interception. The Doherty offense has scored 144 points and the defense has given up 51 points in six games.

Carl Yazstremski won the batting title in the American League in 1967 with a .301 batting average.

J.V. Booters Win, 5-1

Andover 5 - North Andover 1

In the final game of the season, the Andover J.V. boys' soccer team played a strong game against a determined North Andover team. North Andover scored first and Andover answered quickly with an unassisted goal by Dave Wager. A well-played first half ended with the score tied 1-1.

Andover dominated the second half as Scott Clementi scored a hat trick. His first goal was unassisted, the second was off a nice centering pass from John Mattola and his final goal came off a nice assist from Fred Hohn. Marc Selviteli scored the final goal of the game, assisted by Reed Newton.

The boys finished with an undefeated season and a record of 15-0-1, outscoring their opposition by a 6-1 average. Goalie Mike Sintros allowed less than one goal per game and registered five shutouts. The team owes this successful season to their coach, Mike Wartman, who spent many weeks coaching and encouraging them.

Saturday Hoop Clinics Set At Lowell

Lowell High Varsity Basketball Coach Charlie Ryan once again is running his highly-successful "Super Saturday Clinics" at the Riddick Fieldhouse November 7, 14 and 21.

"We believe it's the only fall basketball camp in New England," said Ryan, whose LHS varsity teams have dominated the Merrimack Valley conference and won two Eastern Mass. Division I North championships in recent years.

"It will give participants a definite edge in regards to making their (school or youth league) team. It's a readiness program that's unmatched in this area."

There are still openings, but enrollment is limited and interested youngsters should apply as early as possible.

All boys ages 9-17 are eligible. Each session will run from 8:45 a.m. to 1 p.m.

"The school philosophy is to teach the fundamental skills of basketball," said Ryan. "We'll have individual instruction, skill stations, rules interpretations and player evaluations."

There will also be free t-shirts, a 3-on-3 tournament, a 1-on-1 tournament, foul shooting contest and clinic-ending awards ceremony.

Ryan is the director and the staff includes Lowell High assistants Dennis Canney and Mike Crowley and several college and high school coaches from the area.

Lecturers will include current Celtic Jerry Sichting, former Celtic M.L. Carr, former Lowell High and Texas Christian star Tracy Mitchell, Merrimack College Coach Bert Hammell and Andover High Varsity Coach Tom Ryser.

the last 10 years, "The president's band has never won the competition in any of the four divisions—not even when they've been in a good position to win."

The first place was also a "first" for Keroack's drill designer, Bob Mulvanity. This year, Mulvanity coached two bands in the contest, Andover and North Reading. North Reading, which took first place in Division 1 last year over Andover by a slim .7 point tally, won this year's Division 2 class.

In addition to Mulvanity, Keroack's staff includes Assistant Director Mark Snachez, marching coach Brian Dollard, percussion leaders Peter Funari and Dana Atwood and color guard instructor Rich Rigolini. Student drum majors are Steve DeVoir and Kim O'Neill; color guard captain is Sue Mirisola.

The band has swept its division at all four of its pre-finals seasonal meets this year, winning first place at each and taking top honors in all categories. They have competed with a repertory of four songs—"Don't Rain on My Parade," "Johnny One Note" (with a vocal solo by Trish Squibb), "Oye Como Va" (percussion solo) and the medley "Ladies Who Lunch/Pretty Women." Each number includes a marching routine, complete with choreographed color guard, and is directed on the field by one of the student drum majors.

Stamp Show

The New England Stamp Dealers' Association will hold its annual show November 7 and 8 at the Westboro Marriott Hotel and will feature one of the nationally publicized "CIA Invert" stamps for sale. This stamp, a picture of a wrought iron candlestick printed upside-down, is so named because a sheet of 100 stamps was purchased by the CIA where an employee who was a stamp collector identified them as likely collectors' items. The stamps were substituted, concealed and eventually sold by the CIA employees.

The story was first publicized in Linn's Stamp News, a weekly newspaper for stamp collectors, and later in Time Magazine and daily newspapers.

According to a report from the Bureau of Printing and Engraving, five of the original stamps were used on agency mail before the discovery was made. Time Magazine reported 85 of the $1 stamps were then sold by the nine employees involved, one was destroyed and the nine are thought to be in the hands of the employees, although they insist the stamps were used on agency mail.

Hazardous

believed IEP was "a reputable company," the engineer replied "I have not run into circumstances where their reputation has been challenged."

Members of the Ballardvale Village Improvement Society (BVIS), a neighborhood coalition that opposes the project, were upset both with Glick's line of questioning and with the ZBA's decision to terminate public discussion.

"We would have liked to have had more time to discuss issues like traffic impact, project density and the hazardous waste" stated BVIS member Jack Henry. "Glick feels if he filibusters long enough, we won't get a chance to rebut him."

Sharen Heller, head of BVIS, said she was surprised the board ended the public hearing. "I thought, 'what happened.' I figured they would require more testing and then there would be another public hearing after to tell us what was done."

Heller produced a newspaper clipping from January, 1914, indicating the presence of creosote, a coal tar derivative, on the land now being considered for Ballard View. The developers contend no coal tar residue is present at the site.

"It would be interesting to see what is located eight to ten feet below the surface," remarked Henry.

Whitney said the board would review all data concerning hazardous materials as part of the ZBA's deliberation. The ZBA has 40 days to render a decision whether to approve the comprehensive permit application, at which time a meeting will be called to announce the board's ruling.

Prepare Car For Winter

Old and weak batteries are the most common sources of car trouble during the winter says AAA. A low antifreeze level is another problem frequently overlooked by motorists.

Here's a checklist to follow to prepare for winter driving:

Battery. If it's three years old or older have it checked for power and condition. Make sure battery terminals and cables are free of corrosion.

Antifreeze. Have it tested for at least 20 degrees below zero. If the liquid in the radiator is cloudy, have it flushed and the fluid replaced. The recommended mixture is half antifreeze, half water. Have the engine thermostat checked, too.

Hoses. Replace the radiator and heater hoses every four years. Check to see if any look cracked or feel mushy.

Engine oil. Follow the advice in the owner's manual.

Tune-up. Keep the engine tuned. An engine that is out of tune might not start on that first cold morning.

Windshield washer. Top it off with an anti-freeze-type solution.

Windshield wiper blades. Install soft rubber blades since they help prevent ice and slush build-up.

Tires. AAA recommends all-season or snow tires for winter use.

Thursday, and chose three finalists based on those interviews.

The 13-member screening committee was comprised of parents, teachers and administrators who reviewed resumes of all candidates who applied before the October 15 deadline.

The finalists have been chosen from an original pool of 26 candidates. Hixon was the only one of the seven semi-finalists to come from within the Andover school system.

Kenneth Seifert, superintendent of schools, met with the three final candidates on Monday. Seifert said a final selection would be made on or about November 19.

Stephen Richardson has been serving as acting high school principal since Mary Jennings resigned on July 14 to accept the headmaster's post at Brookline High School.

Gershwin

all been waiting for—Mel Torme.

The audience cheered when he walked on and whipped into "Oh, Lady Be Good!" ending with his trademark scatting—a cappella. Torme can scat his way through a song like it was written that way.

"Listen closely," he told the audience, "and you will understand every word."

Torme, 62, has been performing most of his life. The multi-talented singer is also a conductor and drummer, roles he played during last Thursday's concert. At age 21, he signed with Musicraft Records and has sung his heart out in concert halls, in recording studios, on television.

"But you know, he's still got control of his voice," said Bill Maren, head of The Victor Co. Inc., which sponsored the concert. "One thing that's helped him has been that Night Court show, but he's been great for years."

The Victor Co. has sponsored Collins Center events since it was started five years ago. Last year, they brought violinist Itzhak Perlman for a fundraiser.

"I really love music," explained Maren's wife, Bunny, who co-owns Victor. "All kinds of music—everything from jazz to the Beatles to opera. We're very eclectic in our tastes."

Mrs. Maren is one of the directors of the Andover Endowment for the Arts, which oversees the management of the Collins Center. This year, the center's fifth anniversary season, the Marens wanted to bring something special to Andover. "We like Mel Torme a lot," she said. "And we wanted to bring someone who wouldn't be able to come without a corporate sponsor."

The Great Gershwin Concert happened to be available, and that's how the Marens picked it.

The advantage of being a corporate sponsor is that sometimes you get to meet the stars. Before introducing the show, Bill and Bunny Maren chatted briefly with Torme backstage.

"Every time I get photographed," Mr. Maren said, "it's always with very lean guys, and I look terrible."

"You don't have to worry about that with me," replied Torme, patting his stomach.

"He's one of the nicest people I've ever met in my life," Maren said afterward. "If you didn't know he was one of the performers, you'd think he was from downtown Andover."

Torme himself, still jacketless minutes before the show, was unfazed by all the attention. You'd never know he was the same audience charmer who would be on the stage in a little while. He doesn't get nervous, he said, and he's still not sick of performing.

"If I didn't love it, I'd stop."

Open Meeting Law Discussed At Forum

By Lewis C. Howe

Last month the Andover League of Women Voters claimed the Planning Board violated the state's Open Meeting Law by allegedly not posting meetings of its subcommittees. While no formal charges were filed, the incident did raise questions as to what the Open Meeting Law requires from local governments.

At a workshop on the "Open Meeting Law Agenda" held last Friday in Beverly, Essex County Assistant District Attorney Robert Bender presented an overview of the statute in an attempt to eliminate any confusion over what municipal governments must do.

"Pretty much everything has to be posted," commented Andover selectman Gail Ralston, who attended the workshop. Bender said in his presentation that while an overview of the law doesn't cover every instance, but "a little knowledge is better than none at all."

The Open Meeting Law states "all meetings of a governmental body shall be open to the public...no quorum of a governmental body shall meet in private for the purpose of deciding on or deliberating toward a decision." Further, the law mandates that "accurate records of (board) meetings" must be maintained.

Certain exceptions exist, such as executive sessions. A governmental body may adjourn to executive session provided the announcement of purpose and roll call vote is made during an open session. An executive session may be lawfully convened for several reasons.

Redskins

Redskins' offensive stars were Adam McHale, Adam Cohen, Nate Roberts and Ian Timmons. Mike Trombly boomed a 40-yard punt. Their defense was led by Adam Gray, who made 10 tackles. Sal Denaro, Eric Thompson and Cam Arnott also stood out.

AHPC

opment.

The selectmen refused to forward the AHPC's position on Brookside to the state last month because board members feared conditional approval of 150 units by the town would hinder the ZBA's negotiating position. "It was a matter of numbers" commented selectman Gail Ralston. "We would have passed it without the numbers stipulation."

Ralston said she was "surprised" at AHPC Chairman Carl Byers' statements that he would consider "disbanding" his committee if the selectmen continued to refuse to forward AHPC opinions to the state. "He doesn't have the power to do that," Ralston stated, adding she would discuss the issue with Byers in order to create better communication between the selectmen and the committee.

Colyer said it will also be interesting to see how heavily the state considers local opposition to the four proposals turned down by the AHPC. "There is a perception at the state that all previous applications submitted before the local committees were formed are grandfathered in," he commented. If so, a town position against the proposals may be irrelevant.

A board may meet privately in order to protect the personal reputation or character (not professional competence) of an individual, to consider discipline or dismissal of an individual, to discuss collective bargaining or negotiations, to deploy security personnel, to negotiate real estate transactions, to comply with other laws or to consider and interview job applicants at the preliminary level. Executive sessions should only occur if it is determined that an open session would have a detrimental effect on the governing process.

The League of Women Voters' complaint to Bender centered on posting of announcements for board meetings. The Open Meeting Law states notice for all meetings—town boards, committees, or subcommittees—must be filed with the town clerk's office 48 hours prior to the meeting (not including Sundays and Holidays). These notices must be posted on "the clerk's or other official city or town bulletin board."

The planning staff and planning board have said they complied with all regulations, and planning board chairman Michael Houghton urged the League of Women Voters to stop "badgering" public officials.

In her letter to the local League membership this week, Andover chapter President Jean Salazar remarked "our aim is...to see that whatever decision is reached by government is arrived at through an open democratic process. Judging from the strong wording in his letter, the District Attorney agrees with us."

Street Rezoning Will Be Subject Of Hearing

By Lewis C. Howe

Residents will have a chance to air their views on the proposed rezoning of several town streets at an Industrial Review forum to be held November 17 at the West Junior High auditorium.

The Planning Board Tuesday night reviewed town planner Laura Hill's proposals for the creation of two new zoning districts that would encourage limited business development along both Andover St. and Lupine Road, and allow mixed-use commercial and multi-family housing developments in the downtown area near Shawsheen Plaza and Stevens St.

The proposed Limited Business District (LBD) would require a 100-foot street frontage for new construction—twice the frontage needed in the Industrial D zone that presently covers that portion of Andover St. Buildings in the LBD would have a height limit of 35 feet and could not exceed three stories, which is the same requirement for residential zones.

Parking areas in the district would require a five-foot buffer zone if the development abuts a residence, Hill said, and ten-foot setbacks are required on all sides under the proposed rezoning.

Hill emphasized the setback requirements resulted from a desire "not to have strip development" along the narrow lots on Andover St. Michael Houghton, Planning Board chairman, said the setback and height limits were "not too restrictive," but questioned how one could justify a 100-foot frontage.

"People could say, 'well, the Industrial D zone is the most restrictive and that's only a 50-foot frontage,' so how come you have a 100-foot frontage for this?" Houghton added he was concerned the stipulation would have trouble passing at next year's spring town meeting, when all the proposed zoning changes will be presented.

The Limited Business District would allow retail stores, recreation facilities, offices, restaurants, funeral homes, banks, and building supply warehouses. Hotels, gas stations, car repair shops and industrial uses would not be permitted in the zone.

Board member Russ Moran commented "we don't want to force gas stations or auto shops out of town, but the new district will be viewed on the basis of what these places will replace." Moran said the regulations were "sensitive to the needs of the abutters."

Hill raised a tangential point on the subject of "uses," asking the town to come up with a definition and use for convenience stores. "It's time to add that to the list," she commented, saying a host of Honey Farms' and a crock full of Christy's could sneak into the neighborhood under ambiguously defined "uses" such as retail or 'personal and consumer services.'

"The bylaw is too weak to prevent an influx of convenience stores right now," Hill cautioned. Town planner Nancy Jeton echoed this, saying "not just the chains, but also private entrepreneurs come to our office with convenience store proposals." No action was taken on the suggestion.

The Mixed Use District proposal would encompass the Shawsheen Plaza, Stevens St. and Railroad Ave. and the single residence A zone along North Main St. Jeton suggested adding the lower portion of Essex St. to the district, which is being considered by the board.

The new zoning would prohibit fast food restaurants and hotels, which are currently allowed under Industrial-General (IG) zoning in the area. Auto dealerships and car washes would also be banned from the proposed district.

The Mixed Use zone would provide for multi-family housing, either through conversion (with the approval of the board of appeals) or through planned development by the planning board. Neither of these provisions are allowed under the present IG setup.

"The purpose of the Mixed Use district is to encourage more mixed-use commercial and office development, as well

Planners Retain Bond Money

By Lewis C. Howe

Developer Arthur Kalogianis has failed to finish landscaping and road work for his Olympic Village III subdivision, and on Monday night it cost him.

After hearing from several disgruntled and dissatisfied Olympic Village residents, the Planning Board voted 4-1 to retain $62,195 of a $120,330 town bond slated for Kalogianis' pockets upon completion of the development.

"We are holding the money to make sure that the work is done," stated Michael Houghton, board Chairman. The developer did receive the remaining $58,135 of the bond, which board member Carl Byers said "he earned for doing the work."

Byers placated the dozen or so residents who showed up with their complaints by saying "we are withholding a substantial amount of money here. We are not giving away the store" to Kalogianis.

As of October 1, a department of public works (DPW) report showed most water, roadway, drainage, sewer boundary and utility obligations had been met for the four streets comprising the subdivision—Laconia Drive, Messinia Drive, Sparta Way and Odyssey Way.

John Kolackovsky, 11 Odyssey Way, told the board his primary concern was over a "large mound on his cul-de-sac that makes it impossible to see a small child" while traversing the street. Steve Colyer, town physical planner, pledged to "have the mound leveled" before it interferes with winter snow plowing.

Debra Saryan of 8 Odyssey Way complained "Sparta Way is not even finished yet," and added many of the cul-de-sacs "are in really bad shape." Part of the problem, she said, is the lack of landscaping in the area. Kolackovsky suggested "maybe you should plant trees or something."

Colyer pointed out regulations call for two trees per lot in a subdivision, and he agreed "a lot of things need to be done for dress-up purposes" at Olympic III.

Ray Loyko, 17 Messinia Drive, expressed "frustration" in dealing with Kalogianis on matters of landscaping and drainage. "Last year, water conjugated in my driveway all winter," he said. "The final coat of paving (for the cul-de-sac) is in, and the water is still there. Last winter my driveway was a sheet of ice, and I'm afraid it will be again."

As far as aesthetically upgrading the site, he continued, "(the developer) put in seeding, but it just didn't take." Eventually, he recalled, residents "chipped in to landscape it ourselves."

Frank Klein, 2 Messinia Drive, asked that curbs be installed to control storm water runoff, and Houghton directed the planning staff to "take a look at the drainage" situation on that street.

Kalogianis sat silently throughout the hearing, only responding when Donna Loyko asked him whether she lived on "Messina Drive" or "Messinia Drive," as "the street sign is spelled wrong and we're not sure which is correct."

"In english, it's 'Messina'," Kalogianis quipped, "and in greek, it's 'Messinia.'"

After hearing opinions from all parties, Houghton motioned to retain partial bonding for the subdivision. Board member Russ Moran cast the dissenting vote, saying "there are still issues of drainage I'd like to see resolved" before releasing any funds to the developer.

The Planning Board also reviewed a site plan by Merrimack College which calls for the construction of two dormitories on the Andover side of the school's campus. The three-story buildings would house a total of 152 students in 36 "apartment" units containing four students each, as well as four two-student units.

The revised site plan allows for greater fire department access and a looped 8-inch water main to increase student safety. Both changes were requested by the fire department, and town planner Nancy Jeton commented "the college was very responsive" to the town's suggested improvements.

The new dorms would not encroach on wetlands at the site, college officials said. Construction is expected to take place next summer for occupancy in September 1988. The Planning Board accepted the site plan contingent upon conservation commission approval.

In other business, the board voted unanimously to approve a definitive subdivision plan for "Bakers Meadow Estates." The plans call for five lots to be constructed off Argilla Road near the site of the proposed Abbot's Pond comprehensive permit.

Because today the average resale price of a 1986 944 is, indeed, 100.3%.

Or, to put it another way: after two years, the 944 is actually worth a bit more than it cost originally.

said. "It's a chance for the kids to see ahead to how well they work with adults and children."

Parsons added service programs mean much more than a resume item. "Call it job training. Call it career exploration. It's learning how to grow up in a democracy."

"I have this theory that as adults, we demand certain values, but we don't enforce them," Phillips said. "We say that good grades are important, but we forget about caring and the meaning of people. They (school children) don't get that training. They kind of have to learn it on their own to get a well-rounded education."

SerVermont encourages schools to set up a specific project for the year. They might say: "This year, our project as a school is this—greening up, for instance," Parsons said.

But does it have to be exclusively up to the schools to encourage kids to volunteer their time? Not according to Parsons.

"It could also be up to the kids, up to the parents. It certainly could be initiated by people who need the service," she said.

The program at Hudson High School is student-run, according to director Phillips. Of the eight school programs Harrison visited for his Carnegie Foundation report, the one in Hudson was the only one run by students. It started in the fall of 1983, Phillips said, with a little bit of money from the Carnegie Foundation and the efforts of five students. Today, 250 Hudson High School students put in approximately 11,500 hours a year.

"Even at minimum wage, that's quite a lot of money," she said. "But they do it for free."

"The students there were enthusiastic," Harrison added. "They'd been touched by a new awareness. One student who worked in a nursing home said he'd go back again on his own."

Harrison's report was the direct result of High School, a controversial book by Ernest L. Boyer, president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, who wrote that students should form volunteer community service programs. Harrison was chosen to do a more in-depth study on that particular aspect of Boyer's book. Harrison ended up at eight programs while trying to find out what made them tick.

He concluded by saying that "the American people and American educators should agree that a community service program is a particularly constructive way to satisfy public education's most vital and sacred mission: to prepare young people to become the kinds of adult citizens the nation can rely on..."

"Our educational system is essentially self-serving," Harrison said Friday. "From age 5 to 21 or 25, we're there to learn skills to prepare for our careers. (Community service programs) is going to turn for a little bit at least to other people. It's not the money, it's not a reward. You

Coordinated by the Community Service Network of New England, which Gross leads, the conference was sponsored by PA, the Kennedy Library, the Massachusetts Department of Education and the Thomas Jefferson Forum.

Manager Marilyn E. French of Foster & Foster Realtors: Lee Dodd Division,
Foster & Foster Realtors: Lee Dodd Division

Marilyn E. French GRI, CRS, CRB, is the new manager of Foster & Foster Realtors at 68 Park Street in Andover. Having spent over eighteen years in the Concord/Acton area as a broker, Marilyn felt it was the correct time to not only change location, but to move forward to a managerial position, where she could benefit new brokers through her years of knowledge and expertise.

Marilyn found many similarities between Concord and Andover and immediately knew that she would be comfortable working in this area. She has served on the Education Committee of Foster & Foster, was Massachusetts State President of the Women's Council of Realtors and Director and President of Concord Council of the Greater Boston Real Estate Board.

Foster & Foster is a full service real estate office with 18 offices serving eastern Massachusetts and southern New Hampshire. They have their own mortgage company known as Residential Mortgage Services, with Jim Feinberg as the mortgage officer of the Andover office. Jim is also an agent with Allard Insurance, a full service, independent insurance agency which is a division of Foster & Foster. These services provide home buyers with the opportunity to take care of all their home buying needs at one location.

Marilyn also stresses the fact that her staff of agents are kept up-to-date on changing market trends, new financing alternatives and any new legislation affecting the real estate industry, through monthly in-house training sessions.

So, whether your buying or selling real estate, call Foster & Foster: Lee Dodd Division at 475-8543. Their reputation is built on excellence, knowledge and professional service.

Park Porsche & Audi, Inc.: Invest in Excellence

Park Porsche & Audi, Inc., 222 Lowell St., Lawrence is where you can view the classic Porsche 911, six-cylinder sportscar. It offers sophistication and efficiency plus a choice of three body styles with a normally aspirated engine and six body styles with the 911 turbocharged engine. It is available as a classic Coupe, original Targa with its lift-out roof panel, or the open-air Cabriolet convertible.

No matter what body style, the heart of the 911 is the efficient, reliable 3.2 litre, flat-six, fuel-injected, air-cooled engine. The engine is matched with a five-speed transmission and hydraulically operated clutch designed to effortlessly handle the engine's responsive 214 hp. Feel the power as you sprint from 0 to 60 mph in 6.1 seconds and reach a top track speed of 149 mph.

All three normally aspirated models feature air conditioning, partial leather seats, central locking systems, Blaupunkt's Charleston AM/FM digital stereo cassette with four speakers and antenna amplifier, power windows, heated outside mirrors, tinted glass all around, graduated tint windshield washer nozzles, leather covered steering wheel and reclining seats with electrical height adjustment.

The turbocharged models also feature as standard equipment intake air intercoolers, front and rear spoilers, flared rear fenders, leather interior, full-power front seats, electric sliding sunroof (Coupe), boost pressure gauge and sport shock absorbers.

Every Porsche 911 is covered by the industry's only transferable, 10 year limited rust perforation warranty.

The Park Porsche & Audi showroom is open Mon-Thurs, 8:30 to 8; Fri, 8:30 to 7; and Sat, 9-4. Telephone 686-9743. Olga Jenkins-Price

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage given by David S. Arsenault and Dianne M. Arsenault to Eastern Savings Bank, dated October 2, 1985 and recorded with Essex North District Registry of Deeds, Book 2054, Page 59, of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing, the same will be sold at public auction upon the premises hereinafter described on Thursday, November 19, 1987 at 11:00 A.M., Eastern Standard Time, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage and described therein as follows:

"The land with the buildings now or hereafter placed thereon being shown as Lot 2 Phoenix Place and Gould Road, Andover, Essex County, Massachusetts, on a plan entitled "Subdivision Plan of Land in Andover, Mass. of Phoenix Place" dated June 28, 1983, recorded Essex North District Deeds on November 30, 1983, as Plan #9322, bounded and described as follows:

SOUTHWESTERLY by Phoenix Place 114.36 feet and 65.64 feet;

SOUTHERLY by Lot 3 as shown on said plan, 223.83 feet; NORTHEASTERLY by land now or formerly of Frederick J. & Madelyn V. Cross and Thomas P. & Lorna P. Markham as shown on said plan, 210.55 feet;

SOUTHEASTERLY by land now or formerly of Thomas P. & Lorna P. Markham as shown on said plan, 200.00 feet; EASTERLY by Gould Road, 50.00 feet;

NORTHERLY by land now or formerly of June S. Knowles, 201.31 feet;

EASTERLY by land of said Knowles, 25.00 feet;

NORTHERLY by Lot 2 on said plan, 163.23 feet.

Containing 45,873 square feet of land more or less according to said plan or however otherwise said premises may be bounded, measured or described.

This conveyance is made subject to restrictions imposed by the Planning Board of the Town of Andover in its restrictions dated November 23, 1983, and recorded November 30, 1983, in said Deeds in Book 1751, Page 349."

The above premises will be sold subject as above and to all outstanding tax titles, municipals or other public taxes, assessments or liens, if any.

Twenty Thousand ($20,000.00) Dollars will be required to be paid in cash or by certified check by the purchaser at the time and place of sale as earnest money. The balance is to be paid in cash or by certified check within ten (10) days thereafter to be deposited in escrow with the firm of Doyle & Twomey at 265 Essex Street, Salem, Massachusetts, pending approval of said sale by the Essex County Superior Court. Deed to be taken within ten (10) days from the date of the approval of said sale by the Essex County Superior Court. Other terms, if any, to be announced at the sale.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Stephen J. DeCrosta to Champy Construction Company, Inc. dated December 30, 1986 and recorded in the Essex County (Northern District) Registry of Deeds in Book 2396, Page 96 and assigned to Rose Champy and Sylvia Champy on December 30, 1986 and which assignment is recorded with said Essex County (Northern District) Registry of Deeds, Book 2396, Page 100, of which mortgage the undersigned is the assignee and present holder, for breach of conditions contained in said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing, the same will be sold at PUBLIC AUCTION ON THE PREMISES NUMBERED APPROXIMATELY 120 HAVERHILL STREET, ANDOVER, MASSACHUSETTS, ON TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1987 at TWO O'CLOCK P.M., all and singular the premises described in said mortgage, to wit:

The land in Andover and Lawrence, Essex County, Massachusetts, described as follows:

The land partly in Andover and partly in Lawrence, as depicted on Plan No. 7154, entitled, "Plan of Land in Andover and Lawrence, Mass., surveyed for: Champy Construction Company of Lawrence, Massachusetts, dated October, 1974." Containing 76.596 acres, more or less, and to which plan reference may be had for a more particular description.

Excepting therefrom however, 10.25 acres, more or less of said parcel or parcels conveyed to Richard O'Hara, Trustee of Physician's Building Associates, Nominee Trust, by deed dated October 18, 1972, recorded with said Registry of Deeds, Book 1204, Page 625. See Plan No. 6703 of the North Essex Registry of Deeds.

And excepting therefrom however, 5.69 acres, more or less of said parcel or parcels conveyed to Joseph R. Rokous and Richard A. Katz, Trustees of Doctor's Park Associates, Nominee Trust, by deed dated October 6, 1982, recorded with said Registry of Deeds, Book 1610, Page 217. See Plan of Land in Andover, Mass., County of Essex for Physician's Building Associates, Nominee Trust, Joseph R. Rokous, Trustee, by Cammett and Kutensky Engineering, Inc., dated September, 1982, consisting of two (2) pages which plan is recorded with said Registry as Plan No. 8987.

This conveyance is made subject to and with the benefit of all easements, covenants and restrictions of record.

Being the same or part of the premises conveyed to Champy Construction Company, Inc., by the following grantors: Deed of Andover Shawsheen Realty Company, dated January 7, 1959, recorded at Book 886, Page 385 of said Registry; Deed of Andover Shawsheen Realty Company dated December 31, 1959, recorded at Book 908, Page 359 of said Registry; Deed of Boston and Maine Railroad, dated June 13, 1960, recorded at Book 916, Page 416 of said Registry; Deed of Helen M. Driscoll, et al, dated April 15, 1970, recorded in said Registry at Book 1154, Page 3.

Said premises will be conveyed subject to any and all unpaid taxes and other municipal assessments and liens, and subject to prior liens and other enforceable encumbrances of record entitled to precedence over said mortgage.

One hundred fifty thousand ($150,000.00) Dollars will be required to be paid in cash or certified check or bank treasurer's check by the purchaser at the time and place of the sale. The balance is to be paid in cash or by certified check or bank treasurer's check at the office of Eaton & Chandler, P.C., 234 Essex Street, Lawrence, Mass., within twenty (20) days from the date of the sale.

Other terms will be announced at the sale.

Special Ed Program In Need Of Better Staffing

By Lewis C. Howe

Special Education (SPED) programs in Andover should hire more support staff and should be better integrated with regular school curriculum, according to a report released in October by the school department's Chapter 766 Study Committee.

"Staffing shortages, space, scheduling and communication problems plague the system," the report reads. "The lack of time to do a job well is an overwhelming concern of the staff."

The 14-member panel has recommended the hiring of additional support staff for the special-needs programs, including permanent substitute teachers. "A lack of qualified substitute teachers exists," the report states. The study goes on to say a "lack of sufficient staff" results in delays in services, poor scheduling of programs, lack of flexibility in class size and inability to accommodate students who enter the program at mid-year.

Problems also exist with grading methods for mainstream students in special education classes, inadequate facilities and heavy doses of paperwork, which the report termed a "major frustration to the staff."

To alleviate these conditions, the committee suggested either scheduling time for paperwork, lowering teacher/student ratios, or establishing a liaison in each school to handle the task.

Space for special education classes should be "planned, not found," the study said. Teachers and parents responding to a survey distributed by the committee had complained of problems with ventilation, heat, lighting, space and location of programs, conditions which the report labeled "unsatisfactory."

The study also urged greater parental involvement with the SPED program, and asked the schools to "create opportunities for parent-to-parent communication and support."

Within the school, the 766 committee suggested having "regular education teachers team teach with SPED teachers," and to have regular teachers observe closely the SPED system. The report also calls for the development of "programs to sensitize regular education students and staff to Special Needs."

Despite the drawbacks to the present special needs program, 84 percent of 136 parents who responded to the committee's survey indicated they were "satisfied with the child's progress" in the SPED program. Parents also had praise for the "cooperative and dedicated staff" and the "individual attention shown to students" within the program.

Parents were split concerning the quality of communication between themselves and the staff, while a primary concern of the 66 teachers who responded was a sense of "isolation" from the mainstream of the school.

Mary French, a member of the Chapter 766 committee, said she expected the school committee to consider the report's findings at a future work session. French also cited school committee member Margo Tilghman, who "really took this over as chairman" when she joined the school committee last year.

In their summary remarks, the 766 committee wrote, "it is our hope that Special Education will be seen as an integral and equal component of the overall Andover educational program." The group expressed hope that the school committee "will take this information and begin to provide those tools needed to improve the Special Education program, making it an equal member of our educational system."

Andover's 766 program serves 789 students, at a per-pupil cost of $12,204 annually. An 89-member system-wide staff instructs special needs children in speech, counseling, language, math and adaptive physical education.

BUSINESS PROFILES*Gorham Decorating Center: Decorating Consultants

Peg and Kathy Gorham of Gorham Decorating Center

The holidays are just around the corner and now is the time to get your house in order. All the cleaning in the world won't put the color back in the drapes, nor solve the problem of chipped paint and dreary wall paper.

So, before the entertaining season gets into full swing, visit Gorham Decorating Center at 581 Chickering Road, North Andover. They have the products, services and expertise to make the interior of your home, the envy of all.

Peg Gorham's daughter Kathy, joined the staff this past summer and has brought with her a special talent for putting color and texture together to create a new dimension in the art of decorating. She is a graduate of Roger Williams College in Rhode Island and holds a degree in art.

Another change that took place over the summer months, was a sectioning off of the Decorating Center from the hardware supplies of the Gorham complex. Within the Center, you will find custom drapes, bedspreads, woven woods, mini-blinds, pleated sheers, swags, table covers, pillows, window seats, ceramic tiles and solid brass rods and accessories, imported from Germany.

The newest service to Gorham's is re-upholstering, along with a wide variety of new upholstery fabrics.

"There's a lot of personal service offered here," said Peg. "We work with you to develop a color system to fit your personality and the personality of the house."

For a small fee, Gorham Decorating Center will send a representative to your home to consult with you and offer suggestions for a decorating plan. Call 685-4870 for an appointment and further information. Open M-W-Th-F, 9-5; Tues 9-9; Sat, 9-5.

Docket No. 87P0582-E1

Estate of Raymond J.
Riberdy late of Andover in the County of Essex.

NOTICE

A petition has been presented in the above-captioned matter praying that a certain instrument be probated purporting to be the last will of said deceased by Irene E. Riberdy of Andover in the County of Essex, praying that she be appointed executrix thereof, without giving a surety on her bond.

If you desire to object to the allowance of said petition, you or your attorney should file a written appearance in said Court at Salem on or before 10:00 in the forenoon on November 23, 1987.

In addition you should file a written statement of objections to the petition, giving specific grounds therefore, within thirty (30) days after the return day (or such other time as the Court, on motion with notice to the petitioner, may allow) in accordance with Probate Rule 2A.

Witness, Thaddeus Buczko, Esquire, First Justice of said Court at Salem, the twenty-second day of October in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eighty-seven.

Real Estate Happenings

by Peter D. Collins
RIGHT OF FIRST REFUSAL

Tenants holding a right of first refusal have the opportunity to buy the house in which they are living when it is offered for sale. A right of first refusal may keep a tenant from being evicted from a house or condominium that he is renting. It may get him a bargain price as well, but there are no guarantees. The best agreements allow tenants to purchase the property by matching any bona fide written offer that is acceptable to the seller. Landlords until the right of first refusal in the right-hand column. Some 9 days will allow a tenant to a fair price for the property's value. It does not mean, however, that the property will be offered for sale. It simply states that if it is offered for sale, the tenant will get a chance to buy it.

The time, effort and personal investment CENTURY 21 SHAWNEEN REALTY, INC. has made in the real

DEPRECIATION CHANGE

QUESTION: One of the big benefits of owning investment property is the ability to depreciate it and treat this depreciation as a paper loss. Has the Tax Reform Act changed this in any way?

ANSWER: Yes it has. For properties placed in service starting in 1987, the Tax Reform Act both lengthens the depreciation period and changes the rate at which the properties can be written off. Under prior rules both commercial and residential real estate were depreciable over a 19-year period. On top of that, real estate could be written off at an accelerated rate that produced bigger deductions in the early years of ownership than in the later years.

The Tax Reform Act increases the depreciation period to 27 1/2 years for residential rental property and 31 1/2 years for commercial property. Accelerated depreciation has been eliminated. Both types of property must now be written off using straight-line depreciation.

The Fine Art Of Gracious Living

The essence of luxury living is reflected in the finely crafted details of Hunters Ridge. Cited on 12.5 private acres in a village setting, the graciously appointed townhouses of Hunters Ridge come in three distinctive styles.

Expansive living space includes master suite with full bath and whirlpool tub, formal living and dining rooms and gourmet kitchen. The harmony of setting and style are accented by amenities such as central air conditioning, solid cherry or oak cabinets, wood and marble fireplaces, and one and two-car garages.

The Key to Results in Real Estate

Digital Opens New Center

Digital Equipment Corporation made a significant investment in the greater Boston area and the region's electronics industry Wednesday by opening its newest multi-million dollar Application Center for Technology (A.C.T.) in Andover.

Completely equipped with the latest state-of-the-art computer hardware, software and expert staff, this new A.C.T. is designed to provide customers with on-site solutions to their business needs through use of the latest computer technology.

Steve Early, manager of the Boston A.C.T., said that this new facility will offer customers access to "millions of dollars worth of hardware and software, on-site expert staff and a wide variety of computer solutions with special emphasis on the electronics industry because of our location near Boston."

More than five individual solution areas, 18 fulltime staff, three conference rooms and a complete audio-visual network will be offered in this 14,500 square-foot facility at 3 Riverside Drive (Andover Research Park).

Early said that this A.C.T. is the last of three to be opened in the Northeast (others are in Farmington, CT, and Rochester, NY) and the 14th in the United States.

He stressed that "no other computer company can provide the number of application solutions running on a single computer system architecture like Digital can."

"We're offering all companies in the greater Boston area the opportunity to come to our A.C.T. with their business needs and 'test-drive' a variety of computing solutions in a very supportive environment."

"Each of the industry experts staffing our A.C.T. are trained to work in partnership with our customers, understand their application or industry, evaluate solutions with them and then provide a long-range solution that works."

"In short," Early said, "our Boston A.C.T. provides a simulated environment to test computer-based solutions and alternatives for our customers, help them select the solution which is best for their needs and give them the competitive edge they need to win in their marketplace."

During the grand opening, a number of "live" computer solutions were demonstrated, including computer-aided design systems; decision-support systems; manufacturing resource planning systems; other automation tools frequently applied in the electronics industry.

Among those speaking were former Appollo Astronaut and Senator Harrison H. Schmitt (R-New Mexico) on "The Challenge of Technology," Jerry Witmore, vice president of industry marketing, Digital Equipment Corporation, on "The Digital Difference," and Michael Marshall, Digital vice president, Northeast Area Sales, who delivered the welcome and opening remarks.
